U. S. PRESENTS NEW WORLD NAVAL PROPOSAL

TO ERECT 7-STORY ADDITION TO BANK BUILDING

L. S. And T. Co. Building To Be Enlarged

Large Addition To Big Bank Structure To Be Built At Once

TO GREATLY EXTEND BANKNG ROOMS

Some 55 More Office Rooms To Be Added; Will Cost About $275,000

A seven-story addition to the Lawrence Savings and Trust building estimated to cost $275,000, with a complete remodeling of the banking rooms on the first floor and space for 55 new offices on the other six floors, was decided at a meeting of the directors of the Lawrence Savings and Trust Company held late Saturday afternoon, June 18.

The plans call for a complete remodeling of the banking rooms and the construction of a large safety vault for safety boxes and chests. The vault to be installed is of the Herring-Hall-Marvin type and is the latest in safety and fireproof vaults.

In Rear of Present Structure

The building will be built the same height as the present structure and will connect with the present structure in the rear and extend back to the alley. This will make room in the six upper stories for 55 additional offices. These offices will be reached from the front entrance, which will be enlarged and elevators arranged so as to more conveniently handle the greater number of people who will enter the building.

The old brick structure in the rear of the building has already been torn down and work started in

President Is Working Out Farm Relief Bill For Congress Is Belief

By GEORGE E. DURNO
International News Service Staff Correspondent

RAPID CITY, S. D., June 20.—President Coolidge, according to all indications, will leave the Black Hills of South Dakota this fall with a draft of a farm relief bill in his pocket which will satisfy a great number of the farmers of the West, or at least be of such a nature as to be palatable.

Summering here in the heart of the region that fought so vigorously for the vetoed McNary-Haugen bill with its equalization fee and alleged "price-fixing" features, the President already apparently has made long strides toward winning over the western agrarians.

"Why not", say a number of South Dakotans, who manifestly are elated over Mr. Coolidge's presence in the Black Hills. "I never was for the McNary-Haugen bill." And their more cautious colleagues assert that at the time they were desperate and thought that, nothing else having done any good, it "was worth a chance".

Perhaps the first major convert to the administration viewpoint is Senator Norbeck. The South Dakota political leader voted for the McNary-Haugen bill, but the President's decision to summer here probably will make it difficult for him to oppose the Coolidge program in the next session of Congress.

Before the season is over Mr. Coolidge will have conferred with a number of agricultural leaders. He made it known last week at the temporary executive offices that he looked forward to quite a few

Creates Large Charity Fund

Late Henry Buhl Jr. Establishes $15,000,000 Charity Foundation

WILL IS PROBATED AND FACTS REVEALED

(International News Service)
PITTSBURGH, Pa., June 20—Under the terms of the will of the late Henry Buhl, Jr., Pittsburgh department store owner and philanthropist, a $15,000,000 foundation for charity was created. The will was filed for probate here today.

Buhl's will provided that the department store he headed shall continue to operate under the present management but with most of the profits reverting to the charity foundation which shall be used to "aid all alike, regardless of race or creed."

The will named Justice Robert S. Frazer, of the State Supreme court, and three bankers, John A. Fuchs, W. S. Linderman and Arthur E. Braun, as managers of the foundation.

In Memory Of Wife

Buhl created the foundation in memory of his wife, Louise C. Buhl, who preceded him in death by several years.

The department store magnate died on June 11, after a long and successful business career. He came from a long line of distinguished business men among whom was Frank Buhl, noted steel man of Sharon, Pa. Buhl was born in Zelienople, Pa., on March 23, 1848.

Friends say Buhl gave often to benevolent enterprises but he refused to allow his name to be used in connection with the gifts, having always shunned publicity of that nature.

Relatives Remembered

Attorney B. J. Jarrett, counsel for Buhl, announced that Clifford G. Martin and the Dollar Savings Bank & Trust Company of Pittsburgh were named executors of the will.

Buhl did not overlook near relatives in his will. He provided for Mrs. Edward Winter, a sister, who had stayed at his home since Mrs. Buhl died; Benjamin Buhl, a brother, who lives in Missouri; Frederika J. Gelbach, of Zelienople, a sister, and for the children of deceased brothers and sisters.

Berton B. Croup, vice president of the Boggs and Buhl Department store, was appointed to hold Buhl's store stock in trust and to use the proceeds therefrom for the charity foundation.

The will leaves it to the judgment of the managers of the foundation to disburse money as they see fit.

Vienna Greets American Fliers

Chamberlin And Levine Are Given Great Welcome In Vienna

MAYOR ENTERTAINS FLIERS THIS EVENING

By H. R. KNICKERBOCKER
International News Service Staff Correspondent

VIENNA, June 20.—Under an escort of mounted police and hailed by admiring throngs the two American airmen, Clarence Chamberlin and Charles A. Levine, drove through the streets of Vienna in state today.

Accompanied by United States Minister Washburn the two fliers went to the governmental palace where they were received in audience by Premier Seipel, who gave them a warm greeting in the name of the Austrian government.

Mayor Seitz of Vienna entertains the flyers at an official dinner tonight and tomorrow President Hainisch will entertain them at luncheon, presenting each of them with a golden medal "for service."

On Wednesday the flyers will be entertained with a tea at the American legation.

On Thursday, Chamberlin and Levine will fly to Prague, where President Masaryk has postponed his vacation in order to receive them.

Mrs. Chamberlin and Mrs. Levine remained at their hotels today, resting and recuperating from their strenuous flight from Berlin yesterday.

Hazleton Miners Return To Work

HAZLETON, Pa., June 20.—Twenty thousand miners were held idle for the past three working days when the Lehigh Valley Coal Company announced a temporary suspension in its Hazleton district workings, returned to work today.

The men are expected to be given full time work for an indefinite period, sale of an unmined working, partly responsible for the suspension, having been consummated.

The thirty-seven colleries in the Hazleton-Mahanoy division of the company reported a production of 111,682 tons during the past week, considerably below the normal average.

Commander Byrd May Hop Off For Europe Tuesday

Intrepid American Flier To Start Flight To Europe At Sunset

PLANE IS READY FOR LONG TRIP

Bert Acosta, Lieutenant Noville And One Other To Accompany Byrd

By JAMES L. KILGALLEN
International News Service Staff Correspondent

NEW YORK, June 20.—Commander Richard E. Byrd hopes that weather conditions will permit him to hop off for Paris tomorrow evening, or, at the latest, Wednesday.

He wants to take off at sunset, instead of early in the morning as Lindbergh and Chamberlin did. Early morning had been considered the best time for the hop-off because of atmospheric conditions, but Byrd pointed out that by leaving about 6 in the evening he could land in Europe in daytime.

Byrd said today that he will seek an air lane across the Atlantic which will afford the maximum in speed with the greatest margin of safety. Some day this course may be the every-day air route to Europe.

Plane Is Ready.

The huge three-motored plane America has been gone over thoroughly and is ready for the trip. Members of Byrd's crew, Bert Acos-

Foresee Big Tax Cut By Congress Action In Coming December

By ROBERT S. THORNBURGH
International News Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, June 20.—Congress will hand the American people a Christmas present in the form of a tax cut of about $300,000,000 next December with the sanction of the Treasury Department, Treasury officials predicted today.

While no definite announcement is expected before Secretary of the Treasury Mellon returns from a European trip in the fall, it is certain that a substantial cut will be approved.

Under Secretary Ogden L. Mills, and a corps of experts will study the tax situation during Mellon's absence and will have a report upon which the Secretary will base his annual report to congress by September.

Pay More Income Tax

Income tax payments for the fiscal year ending June 30, under the 1926 Revenue Act will exceed those in 1925, under the much higher rates of the 1925 law by nearly $500,000,000, experts predicted. This remarkable showing is in spite of the reduction of the tax burden by nearly $400,000,000 in the 1926 law.

The 1927 income tax collections, according to today's Treasury figure, will pass $2,225,000,000 as compared to $1,982,000,000 during the first year's application of the present law.

While the small taxpayer is expected to get little direct benefit from the contemplated reduction, indirectly, according to officials, the entire population, whether or not taxpayers, will profit through a reduced overhead of general business.

Some Probable Cuts

Preliminary plans of the Treasury look to a probable cut of one per cent in the corporation tax, a substantial reduction in the maximum surtaxes and the elimination of most of the remaining war taxes. A simplification of some provisions of the Revenue Act is contemplated.

In virtually all classes of income the government's revenue will be greater in 1927 than in any normal year in history. Customs collections are expected to go over $601,000,000, while all revenue will pass the $4,000,000,000 mark.

The Treasury will find its vaults at the close of the year with at least $600,000,000 more than is needed for operating expenses, all of which will be devoted to a record slash over $1,000,000,000 in the public debt, with a correspondingly heavy cut in interest costs.

Col. Lindbergh Is Now Planning For His Future

Will Make Tour Of Many American Cities, It Is Indicated

EXPECTS TO REMAIN IN AVIATION SERVICE

Confers With Backers In St. Louis As To Business Ventures

By WILLIAM K. HUTCHINSON
International News Service Staff Correspondent

ST. LOUIS, June 20.—Turning aside from public functions and popular acclaim, Colonel Charles A. Lindbergh today began planning his business future and an aerial tour of the country in the interest of aviation.

While offers, involving millions of dollars and a variety of business opportunities have been showered upon America's air idol, it was definitely learned that he intends to link his future to commercial aviation. His closest associates revealed that Lindy now plans to center his business activities on the development of trans-Atlantic commercial air lines, with St. Louis as a hub. He will make his headquarters in St. Louis too, the city which he frequently has described as his "home."

To Tour Country

The first stops on the air king's tour of the country will be announced in a few days. He will accept as many as he humanly can of the fifty invitations given him to visit different cities, it was said. His tentative route will be arranged too so as to permit him to fly over the maximum number of cities and towns in order that the greatest possible number of people will be able to see his plane in flight if they cannot get a glimpse of the hero in person.

Lindy was reported anxious to visit all sections of the country. The invitations already extended him, if accepted, would carry him from Detroit on the Canadian border to New Orleans on the Gulf Coast, from San Francisco on the Pacific to Boston on the Atlantic. If the youth has his way, he undoubtedly will visit them all.

The tour however, will be arranged on the advice of Lindy's financial backers. He attended one conference last night at the palatial suburban home of Harry Hall Knight, millionaire St. Louisan. Besides the host, the conference included Harold M. Bixby, president of the St. Louis Chamber of Commerce, Major William B. Robertson, head of the air mail line on which "Slim" served as a pilot, and B. F. Mahoney of San Diego. They were to meet again today.

Deliberations Secret

These backers of the air hero shrouded their deliberations with secrecy. They declined to discuss his plans for the future but said an announcement would be made some time this week.

It was learned though that Lindy will leave St. Louis Wednesday or Thursday although his destination was withheld. One report stated that the air hero would fly back to Washington to confer with Government experts over the technical de-

Large Trout Giving Fishermen Big Laugh

New Castle and Lawrence county boasts of a lot of fishermen, about 6,000 to be exact, but there is one fish in the county which thus far has given the disciples of Isaac Walton the hearty laugh.

He isn't a "poor fish" 'this one in question, but a wonderfully big brown speckled brook trout who has been named "King Speckles." His home is out in Garner mill dam near Wilmington Junction and for two years he has been laughing at the fishermen of the county in their attempt to catch him.

Tasty flies and bugs, luscious fishing worms and all other manner of bait have been used in an attempt to get him, but he either passes them by scornfully or steals the bait from the hook.

"King Speckles' 'is enormous in size, his length being estimated at from 19 to 20 inches. Every week some fishermen drops a line into the Garner Mill Dam hoping to snare this wily fish but the closest he has come to capture was a week ago when Frank Williams of the Carnegie Steel company got a hook into him. The king jerked himself loose and in the jerking straightened the hook out.

He may be caught yet but until he does its a safe guess that "King Speckles" is enjoying the sport. He has a home up under a log in the dam and all of the fishermen have seen him but none have yet landed him on the bank.

Would Extend 5-5-3 Ship Ratio To Every Class

U. S. Proposal To Arms Parley Would Eliminate Naval Competition

JAPAN OPPOSES U. S. SUGGESTION

Three Powers In Conference At Geneva; Other Nations Have Observers

By HARRY FLORY
International News Service Staff Correspondent

GENEVA, June 20—A concrete proposal designed to eliminate the last vestige of naval competition between the great powers was laid before the Geneva arms conference today by the American delegation.

The American program, boiled down, was that the 5-5-3 ratio of capital ship strength, established at the Washington conference six years ago, be extended to cover all remaining classes of fighting craft.

Gibson's proposals were immediately followed by British and Japanese suggestions.

Great Britain suggested an 11-point program centering about a reduction in the tonnage and armament of capital ships.

Japan proposed that there be no maximum limit for the tonnage of individual vessels.

While delegates representing the United States, Great Britain and Japan are the only full participants in the conference, there are observers and informers here to represent France and Italy.

Delegates Optimistic.

Bright sunny weather seemed to induce a great deal of optimism among the delegates, who have for their chief task the finding of a suitable method of applying the 5-5-3 ratio to auxiliary craft, as that ratio now applies to capital ships.

Hugh Gibson, American ambassador to Switzerland, and chief of the American delegation to the conference, assumed the chair at the opening of the session and it is expected that he will be invited to continue as chairman for the duration of the conference.

Japan Opposed.

GENEVA, June 20.—Japan will oppose the application of the 5-5-3 ratio to auxiliary vessels and if the United States presses such a proposal in the tri-partite naval conference which opens here today, Japan will reserve the right to raise the question of naval bases, and will particularly suggest restrictions regarding the bases at Hawaii and Singapore, it was learned today.

Japan will agree with the United States in opposing any reduction in the maximum tonnage of capital ships, a suggestion which is expected to come from Great Britain.

Furthermore Japan will support

It may rain every day and be cool every night, and the clouds may be gray as they hang in the skies, but me, I refuse to get sore at it all, there's no one will say they heard me criticize. For whether it rains or whether it shines, my kicking will not help the weather a bit, and I reckon the man who is sending it down is not going to heed what I tell him a whit. For knocking the weather is popular sport but the weatherman chuckles and turns a deaf ear, and when he wants rain, why he sends it along, and if he would change it, he just makes it clear. So banish the knocking and hope for the best, a fellow should really have more things to do, than sit on a box and be grouching the while, it's cooler today down to just sixty-two.

Postpone Action On Mercer Street Opening Ordinance

City councilmen in formal session at city hall today did not take any action on an ordinance providing for the extension of South Mercer street from its present terminus at Lawrence on an angle to South Jefferson street.

Councilmen believed it feasible to await the return of City Solicitor R. M. White, who is attending a class reunion at Michigan University, Ann Arbor, Mich.

Neither did they take any action on the ordinance clothing the tree commission with power, and both ordinances will rest in the committee of the whole until Friday, at least.

The tree ordinance will not affect trees on private property, but the body will have jurisdiction over trees and shrubbery in the public highways of the city.

COMMANDER BYRD MAY HOP OFF FOR EUROPE TUESDAY

ta, the pilot and Lieut. G. O. Noville, the engineer, are waiting impatiently for the time for the take off. The name of the fourth person who may make the trip has not been revealed although it is reported he will be Bernt Balchen, formerly of the Norwegian Navy.

Unfavorable weather still prevails over the Atlantic. There are headwinds from New York to Newfoundland and from Newfoundland to mid-ocean. From that point to Ireland storms are raging.

Everything on this trip will be done on a scientific basis. Byrd will explore the various air lanes over the Atlantic with the idea of determining which once is the best. He will have all the instruments which Lindbergh had, including the earth inductor compass, and several more, the most important of which is the bubble sextant, by means of which the exact position of the plane may be determined and plotts on the chart.

Seeks Safest Course

"I hope to learn to some extent the quickest and safest air course to Europe," said Byrd. "There are not necessarily the same.

"The quickest course may be in the southern end of low area, or area of storm, where a strong westerly wind would blow the plane along at high speed. Such a course, however, might be dangerous.

"It would be of great scientific value to learn more about the weather conditions that prevail above the surface of the ocean on the edges of the low pressure areas."

Whether Byrd will be satisfied with a hop to Paris, without going further, was a matter of conjecture today. The belief persists that he will attempt something more spectacular although Byrd says his original plans have not been changed. It is reported that when Byrd gets to Paris he will make another take off—perhaps to some other large city, or back to America.

"Nothing will be decided until after we get to Paris," said Byrd.

L. S. AND T. CO. BUILDING TO BE ENLARGED

the rear of the present building where the new addition will be built. Work on the foundations and basement will be started at once, and with the work progressing through the summer it is hoped to have the improvement completed by late fall.

Louis A. Haug, local contractor, will have supervision of the entire project. Local labor and material is expected to be used in the building of the addition.

Of Latest Construction

The construction of the building will be of the latest fireproof material. The office construction will be similar to that in the present part of the building and access will be by the front entrance and elevators.

The remodeling of the banking rooms will be quite extensive. The entire first floor extending back to the alley will be used for banking business. The banking rooms will be laid out in an entirely new and up-to-date way that will not only add to the beauty of the place, but will make it much more convenient both for the patrons and the bankers.

A large demand for more office space in the building has grown in the last year or so, according to F. A. Schultz, secretary and treasurer of the bank. Present tenants of the building especially have asked for additional office space. So the new extension will take care of this demand, it is hoped.

Fire Damages Truck At Garage

Firemen were called at 3:25 o'clock this morning to the garage of Smith & McQuiston, 502 Sampson street, where a fire had started in a truck of that concern. The fire was confined to the truck and a small part of the roof of the building, the loss being placed at $100.

The fire started at the gas tank of the truck and communicated to the seat and cab. The top of the tank was found off and members of the firm of Smith and McQuiston believe that it may have been started by some person stealing gasoline from the truck.

The lives of the firemen were endangered by the presence in the place and immediately adjoining the truck on fire, of another truck on which there were twenty forty gallon drums containing gasoline. The fire did not reach them.

PRESIDENT IS WORKING OUT FARM RELIEF BILL FOR CONGRESS, BELIEF

meetings on the subject of farm relief.

The importance of formulating an acceptable compromise farm relief program has been impressed on the President quite forcibly. Just before his departure from Washington he invited Governor Hammill of Iowa to the White House. Iowa at present is leaning strongly toward the candidacy of Frank O. Lowden of Illinois, generally accepted champion of the farmer, and Hammill has been fairly accurately identified with the movement.

"Iowa", said Hammill at the time, "will be for President Coolidge for re-election in 1928—provided he works out a broad and satisfactory program of relief which will pass the next session of Congress. Otherwise Iowa regards Lowden in a very friendly fashion."

The industrial East and South are regarded as "in the bag" by Coolidge managers insofar as the 1928 convention is concerned. It is this section which has to be won over and to do that the farmer must be satisfied, they believe. Consequently, agriculturel relief is expected to come in for a big play before the summer is over.

scriptions written into the log of his trans-Atlantic flight.

Lindy will publish the log within a few weeks and his publishers were said to have urged him to complete the copy at once.

Lindy was concerned with another problem—the ultimate disposition of his precious plane, "The Spirit of St. Louis." It was suggested to him that he turn it over as an exhibit to the National Museum in Washington but Lindy would not commit himself. "I can't go into that now," was his reply.

Mrs. Lindbergh To Leave

Mrs. Evangeline Lodge Lindbergh, mother of the hero, who shares honors with him here, was scheduled to return to Detroit today. Her future was shrouded with mystery as friends of Lindy were understood to have urged her to give up her job as a school teacher in Detroit and come to live with him in St. Louis. Mrs. Lindbergh, however, has signed a contract to continue as a teacher next year in the Cass Technical High School at Detroit and recently said she "intended to keep her word."

As for the youth's business future, Lindy made it rather plain that he intends to remain in aviation. In speaking to 100,000 persons gathered in the open air at Forest Park Sunday, he said: "St. Louis is in a position to be the center of aviation in this Country. With proper cooperation we can put St. Louis as the center of aviation in this country."

His use of the pronoun "we" in this instance was not taken to include his famous plane, but rather as a reference to his St. Louis backers.

Defendant Absent; Case Is Delayed

When the case of the Commonwealth against John Nelson, alias John Trevo, for assault and battery with attempt to commit a more serious offense, on charges brought by Matilda Johnson, was called for trial this morning, the defendant was not present, and a recess had to be taken until his arrival.

It was claimed that there had been a misunderstanding as to when the case was to be taken up. The prosecutrix claims that she was out riding in an automobile with Nelson, and was on a road leading from the Butler to the Ellwood City road, when the defendant attacked her.

College Boys Back From New York Trip

(Special To The News)

NEW WILMINGTON, June 20.—Saturday marked the return of Edward Brown and Robert Auld, both former resident students at Westminster, from a week and a half "bumming trip" to New York. Leaving New Wilmington just two hours after his graduation from Westminster young Brown with his companion reached New York in two days of effort on the road. Arriving at Passaic, N. J. early Friday June 10, they made it their headquarters for a tour of all the places of interest surrounding New York.

Wednesday, June 15, the young sightseers started on their long journey back to New Wilmington and after a half day's stop-over at Philadelphia reached home early Saturday afternoon.

Both of the boys consider the trip as a big success asserting that at no time did they have to wait over ten minutes for a lift. Upon being asked they said that they reached New York after receiving 18 rides and came home on 11 lifts. They also said that tourists are very generous to those looking for rides who are dressed respectably, but always pass up any person who looks literally like a bum.

MIGHT HELP TRAFFIC CONGESTION

NEW CASTLE'S greatest trouble with traffic congestion comes on Saturday evening.

Washington street and other downtown streets are congested badly for several hours, due to the tremendous volume of auto traffic that develops during the evening.

It has been suggested, and not without considerable foundation in fact, that New Castle auto owners and drivers could aid in large measure in elimination of some of this congestion, if they had a mind to.

It is declared that there are many autoists who drive up and down Washington street aimlessly on Saturday night, and that there are others who join in the traffic with their cars, who could without a bit of inconvenience just as readily leave their cars at home on Saturday night.

In other words, it is declared that there is a large volume of this Saturday night traffic congestion in New Castle that is really uncalled for.

Especially at the present time, with South Mill street cut off, and the congestion increased at East Washington street bridge, it would be an excellent idea for each owner and driver of an auto in New Castle to just do a little thinking and see what he or she could do to help this Saturday night traffic congestion in New Castle.

A NEW SAFETY DEVICE

THE successful test of radiophone communication between the locomotive and the caboose of a freight train a mile and a quarter long demonstrates that a new device for train control and safety has been evolved says a metropolitan exchange. Not only does the device enable members of a train crew to converse readily, but it will expedite the transmission of orders from signal towers and stations along the route. The New York Central Railroad has ordered this train radio equipment for installation on locomotives and at fixed points. It will be tested fully under road and yard service conditions. Since the transmitter operates on a short wave, it will not interfere with regular broadcast transmission, while the receiving set will be capable of picking up instructions from a considerable distance. If this device proves practicable under all conditions, it should be valuable for supplementing signals and written orders for safeguarding rail transportation.

SYMPATHY FOR CRIMINALS

BY POPULAR consent the gravest problems confronting American civilization today are those touching on lawlessness and the administration of justice.

Crime statistics make this country the most lawless in the world, and nowhere else on the earth is more consideration shown the professional criminal and more sentiment aroused in his behalf. Nowhere else does public sentiment so strongly insist that every possible obstacle be put in the way of a ruthless war on crime. Nowhere else does one hear as much of the necessity of protecting "the rights" of the criminal.

Some indication of what can be done to curb crime through rigid laws intended to wage ruthless war on those whose business is to wage ruthless war on the safety of society is given in the effect of the New York law making life imprisonment compulsory for the fourth conviction for a felony. There was immediate and considerable improvement in crime conditions, especially in New York City.

At the very time that the Baumes law was spiking the guns of the gangster and bandit, public sentiment, with foundation in maudlin sympathy, was exerting strong pressure for taking the teeth out of the law. Some didn't understand the law and others feared it might be the cause for depriving innocent men of their liberty for the remainder of their days.

Buy gas cheerfully. Think of the great philanthropies your money makes possible.

There probably never will be a time when the older generation isn't worrying about what is to become of the younger.

WHAT PARENTS GO THROUGH.

"There's no danger here," she said,
"Let the children romp and play,
Put away all fear and dread,
Let us have a restful day."
Then I turned and chanced to see
Janet half-way up a tree.

On the porch we parents sat,
Came a shrieking from the rear
Some child with a basball bat
Tapped his brother on the ear.
Then to set our nerves on edge
Janet walked a window ledge.

"Ma," a little fellow cried
"Janet's throwing mud at me!"
Upp I got and went outside
What the trouble was to see.
There she was, as black as soot,
Thick with mud from head to foot.

"There's no danger here," she said,
But at last when night slipped down
And we'd got them both to bed,
Safe once more within the town,
"Thank the Lord," I heard her say,
"Ended is this holiday."

The way to get the things we want is to get part this year, part next, some the next and so on. In that way everybody will get their pet hobby in time and everyone will be satisfied. There are many things that New Castle needs to keep it in the front rank and a comprehensive improvement program covering a period of years is one.

SIX YEARS OLD AND GOING TO SCHOOL

Six years old and going to school!
Learning to talk and act by rule;
Taking a step toward the Land of men,
Never to be quite the same again;
Starting to climb the ladder of life,
Unaware of the danger and strife
Toward which eager climbers are bound
As they struggle upward, round by round.

Six years old and going to school!
My heart is heavy. Maybe you'll
Think I am foolish, and lacking grit
Because I'm making so much of it.
But you don't understand, unless you've had
Just such another little lad,
And have watched him, smiling, trudge away
Out of your arms to school one day.

Un-American Attacks.

By ARTHUR BRISBANE
(Copyright, 1927, By N. Y. American, Inc.

If you happen to be one of those that would keep so-called "objectionable inferior foreigners" out of the United States, remember that Linbergh's father was an immigrant.

And if you happen to be one of those convinced that "radicals," which means men that presume to do their own thinking, instead of sticking in the rut, ought to be deported or jailed, remember that Linbergh's father was "an insurgent" in congress.

He even went the length of saying that the influence of organized capital should not outweigh all the citizens in the government of the United States.

Needless to say, the politicians, once they got rid of him, did not let him return to Congress.

The other day a tall schoolboy ran away from home, over-whelmed with shame at being called "elephant" by his companions. The boys that used this nickname were foolish and cruel. And the big boy that allowed himself to be annoyed by it was foolish also.

There are thousands of tall boys and girls that stoop over, trying to conceal their height because they are ashamed of it when they ought to be proud of it.

Nothing could be more foolish than to bend over, pressing in your lungs with the ribs squeezed against them, merely because you happen to be taller than boys and girls around you.

Stand straight, breathe deep, be proud of your muscles and be proud of your height.

Lady Lettice Lygon is the tallest girl in British society. Well over six feet tall, she towers above men, head and shoulders above a majority of women.

But she stands straight, is cheerful, enjoys life and knows that the man that gets her will be a very proud husband.

Sir George Lunn, leader of British education, says "children are born with a load of lead around their necks." He refers to millions of pounds spent, and millions of lives lost in war, and says children should be taught to loathe the "glorification of bloody battles."

When war starts, however, children and men, clergymen and women, forget the past, and want to fight.

It is SAD, but it accounts partly for improvement in the human race. The feeble ones had to go.

As to the loads of debt, science finds ways to pay them off more quickly than wars create them.

After Waterloo, Europe was apparently "RUINED." Then came steam power, and in a little while Europe was ten times richer than ever.

Europe thinks it is ruined NOW. But proper use of electrical power will pay off all its war debts, and multiply Europe's wealth by ten before this century is out.

Louis Siebold tells of attacks upon Governor Smith and his religious belief sent throughout the south from northern publishing plants, "profusely illustrated with portraits and cartoons of the most offensive sort."

Attacks based on a man's religion will not help those that make them. If such attacks must be made, it is as well for the man attacked that they should come now, be answered and lose their strength early in what, apparently, is to be a bitter campaign.

"Dimples have gone out,' you are told. The modern girl must be slim, thin, hard. And that irons the dimples out of face and knees. Knee dimples would show, in these days, had they not been put out of fashion.

Dimples will come back, however, and fluffy shirts with blue and pink sashes. And curly ringlets will drive out the boyish bob. Woman may not realize it, but she lives and strives to please man, and what man likes is femininity, not an imitation of masculinity.

Providence, for its own reasons, wants sharp contrast between men and women, and what it WANTS is what happens.

Rome plans to build three subway lines, with a union station, between the Roman Forum and the Trojan Forum, not far from the Coliseum.

Fifteen miles of subways, enough to provide for 1,500,000 people, will be dug at the level of Rome in the time of Caesar.

Archeologists will work with the engineers, having Mussolini's authority to change or divert any route to save antiquities.

Wonderful opportunities for collectors will occur in this digging, but Mussolini would let nothing good leave Italy.

On Tuesday the city of New York gave a dinner and invited nearly four thousand more of less "prominent citizens" to meet Lindbergh at dinner. Lindbergh talked common sense about flying, in a simple, manly way. He pays no compliments to anybody, he doesn't care much about compliments for himself. He is a flyer, not a seeker of notoriety or money. His managers could easily enable him to accumulate $5,000,000 or more, but he probably would rather have a perfect flying machine than the $5,000,000.

One speaker at Lindbergh's dinner was Charles Evans Hughes, formerly governor of New York and chief justice of the supreme court. He would also have been president in place of Woodrow Wilson but for foolish advice and management in California.

Mr. Hughes' speech was admirable, showing extraordinary physical as well as mental power. The former chief justice is quoted as saying, not that he was too old for President, but that he was "too old to RUN for President."

Every man at that dinner will testify that Mr. Hughes shows the vigor and actual YOUTH of a man of forty.

However, Calvin Coolidge will probably make it unnecessary for anybody else to decide about the 1928 election, so far as the Republicans are concerned.

Dr. Crane's Editorial

THE GREATEST CIVILIZER

The greatest civilizer in the world and the greatest peacemaker are the railroad. The lines running from the North to the South did more to reunite the country after the Civil War than all the caporings of the politicians.

A new line has been opened up at an expense of some $14,000,000 in Mexico, running from La Quemada, in the state of Jalisco to Tepic in the state of Nayarit. This is about 103 miles, and it had been called "impractical if not impossible," but its completion is a tribute to the skill of American railroad builders.

This new line opens up a direct rail route from the west coast of central Mexico. It assures the development of a great region that has hitherto been unexploited, a region rich in agricultural and industrial possibilities and one of the most lovely scenic places in the railroad world.

As soon as it is feasible, Pullman and dining car service will be established directly between Mexico City and Los Angeles and San Francisco.

The rails have been laid through mountain ranges and canyons with a maximum gradient of 1 per cent and maximum curves of six degrees metric.

It was fitting that President Calles should officiate at the official inauguration of the line, for it means much to his country.

Such a line will do much to consolidate the peoples of the United States and Mexico. Whatever improves commerce and communication generally between the two nations is of value.

It is probably the greatest achievement in the history of engineering in Mexico and one of the greatest in the world.

Much of the progress of nations is due to the engineer. He is the real civilizer for he is the road-maker, and civilization, in its last analysis, is its transportation.

It will be found that backward countries, such as China and others, are seats of racial prejudice, due to isolation, and nothing disperses such ignorance as much as facilities for transportation.

When China ceases to be the country of the ox cart and becomes a country of the railroad it will be a different country.

Tomorrow—Death Valley.

The World AND THE Mud Puddies

WE DO KNOW SOMETHING.

Carry the new to Arthur Brisbane! America has something by way of aviation which no other Nation has. Who said so? No other than Colonel Lindbergh. He said it for the first time at the reception given him by the National Press Club in Washington, Saturday night, June 11th. It may be news to the writer of the Column, "Today," but Europe has no Air Mail Service. It has regular passenger air service, but no regular routes of Air Mail. European aviators are a mighty sight more interested in American Air Mail service than Arthur Brisbane or any other American is interested in the European Passenger, Army and Navy Air Development.

Lindbergh's address to the newspapermen gathered in Washington that Saturday evening, was his first speech of any length that had been reported at that time. He made it very clear what the mail pilots of the United States are doing, and why their work is so interesting. There are no custom officers in the forty eight states, guarding zealously all comings and goings of the air mail between the states. In Europe in a few hours flying time the aviator has passed from one Nation to another, and everything he carries is subject to inspection. The distances in United States are great. Every kind of climate is embraced in the character of the weather. The pilot of the plane carrying the mail out of Cheyenne has to rise more than ten thousand feet to miss the mountains, and when there is a snow storm in the mountain tops, he must rise several thousand feet higher often, to avoid if possible the storm.

An air pilot of my acquaintance told me of watching one very cold afternoon last Winter, the mail plane East, trying to surmount not only the Great Divide, but a furious storm that seemed to be raging in the heights. He could see through his glasses the pilot of the mail plane nose into the storm, and then out again. He saw him skirt for miles the storm clouds. Again he saw him try to take his plane over the top of the storm, and every instance he was rebuffed, and was compelled to return to the flying field where my friend was watching. He said it was no use, the mail would have to wait a few hours.

I myself received a letter at San Diego out of Vancouver on the morning of June 10th, which had left Vancouver by rail to Seattle, thirty hours earlier. From Seattle to Los Angeles it was carried by plane, and from Los Angeles to San Diego again by rail, all accomplished in thirty hours! The postmaster at San Diego told me he knew it was a record. This is only one instance of the records made daily by the mail plane.

Uncle Sam is surely educating for services at home and afield a marvelous Army of fearless Airmen. These men are not only fearless, but they are intelligent; they are skillful. They are not only learning aviation, but they are causing to be made every week and every month new advances in the science of aviation.

Colonel Charles A. Lindbergh, the national hero, was a product of the Air Mail School.

C. B. D. CHARLES B. DRISCOLL

IN NEW YORK

Outsiders think of New York City as a place where tall buildings grow, with never a green thing to relieve the monotony of brick and steel.

In a visit of a few days to the city one sees but little to counteract this impression, unless one happens to visit the vast expanse of forest and meadow that is called Central Park. The things that the tourist has heard about and wishes to see are nearly all within the brick-and-steel area of the big city.

On a recent holiday I started out with one of my small daughters to see Staten Island. Although I had made flying visits to that part of New York City previously, what we saw in a day's driving about gave me an entirely new perspective of one New York borough. I am of the opinion that it would pay the tourist who has only three or four days in New York to spend at least half a day seeing the borough of Richmond, which is Staten Island.

I do not know of any city in America where such large areas of green grass, forest and rural scenery are within an hour's ride of the center of town, as one may find within the corporate limits of New York City.

All the area of Staten Island is within the city. But you may ride about for hours there, within view of the ocean or the bay, your nerves soothed by the salt breeze, and never see a tall building, a crowded street or an electric sign.

You may go to Staten Island by ferry. The ride across the bay consumes a quarter of an hour, or maybe 20 minutes. Therein lies the secret of the rural atmosphere of the island. When a subway runs out there, under the bay, from Manhattan, the borough of Richmond will become as crowded as the Bronx. But that will be many years from now.

There are many little towns on the island, each with its own separate character and individual characteristics. They are all within the city and enjoy the benefits of good lighting, good pavements, fire protection and police protection that the city can give, but most of them are deliciously quaint old towns, rich with history and tradition. Yes, New Yorkers and tourists could do worse than spend a half day seeing picturesque Staten Island.

Two Policemen At Croton Avenue

Coulthard To Be Asked To Explain Square Loop Plans

CITY WANTS LIGHTS AT SAFETY ZONES

Two traffic policemen were on duty Saturday night during the busy rush at the intersection of Croton avenue and East Washington street. One officer directed automobiles from the middle of the street, while another policeman helped to keep pedestrian traffic flowing. Traffic on Sunday was slow, due to cold weather and rain.

Today councilmen discussed traffic briefly, and C. C. Coulthard, district superintendent of the P.-O. Electric Railway Company, will appear before council Tuesday.

Coulthard will be asked to tell his plans for installing two loops at the Public Square and will be requested to place safety lights at the safety zones on the Square.

Today Mayor Dunlap said that with several downtown streets closed the police department is confronted with a difficult situation and he does not want any more streets closed.

The mayor intimated that he will not close streets entirely for contractors to store materials in cartways while they construct or remodel buildings.

County's Wool Pool Being Gathered

State College Wool Specialist Grading Wool Stored By Growers On Moravia St.

Pooling of wool for the Lawrence County Co-operative Wool Growers started today at the store house on Moravia street where many of the county's growers came here with their 1927 stock of wool. The pooling will last for three days, June 20, 21 and 22, and will be graded by W. B. Connell, sheep and wool specialist from State College. Here it will be stored until such time as the directors feel the market will justify their selling.

This marks the eighth annual pooling by the Lawrence county association. Throughout the seven previous years 400,000 pounds of wool has been handled here. The largest single pool was that of 1926 when approximately 60,000 pounds of the material was graded. This was the second largest pool in the state of Pennsylvania.

Many a man would feel embarrassed to meet his grocer when driving away from the filling station.

WOULD EXTEND 5-5-3 SHIP RATIO TO EVERY CLASS

the French contention that small ships, for purposes of disarmament, should be divided only into two categories, surface craft and submarines.

U. S. Proposals.

WASHINGTON, June 20.—The American proposals presented today at the Geneva naval limitation conference follow:—

1.—The proposed new treaty to supplement the Washington treaty should be conterminous with it and contain provisions for extension or modification similar to those of the Washington treaty. It might be desirable to provide for the possibility of reconsideration in the event that the requirements of national security of any contracting power in respect of naval defense are, in the opinion of that power, materially affected by any change of circumstances.

2.—Provisions for the limitation of auxiliary naval armament should be by classes of vessels as follows:
(a) The cruiser class:
(b) The destroyer class:
(c) The submarine class:
(d) An exempt class not subject to a limitation.

3.—Limitation by total tonnage in each of the several classes should be modified as necessary to provide for transition from the status quo to the final tonnages in each of the several classes.

4.—The United States, while suggesting tonnage limitations at various classes, will accept as low a total tonnage limitation in each of the several classes of auxiliary vessels, on the basis of the principles of the Washington treaty ratio as the British Empire and Japan will accept.

Definitions.

The cruiser class—shall include all surface, naval combatant vessels, which are of standard displacement of more than 3,000 tons and not exceeding 10,000 tons and not carrying guns exceeding eight inches in calibre.

The destroyer class—shall include all surface, naval combatant vessels, of standard displacement of 600 tons and not more than 3000 tons, which have a designated speed greater than 17 knots.

The submarine class—shall include all vessels designed to operate below the surface of the sea.

An unrestricted class—to include vessels of limited combatant value. The technical definition of vessels to fall within such a class should be the subject of future agreement.

Replacement.

The age limit for replacement in the several classes shall be as follows:—

1.—Cruisers, twenty years.
2.—Destroyers, fifteen to seventeen years.
3.—Submarines, twelve to thirteen years.

Proposals for tonnage limitation by classes:

Cruiser Classes

For the United States, 250,000 to 300,000 tons.
For the British Empire, 250,000 to 300,000 tons.
For Japan, 150,000 to 180,000 tons.

Destroyer Classes

For the United States, 200,000 to 250,000 tons.
For the British Empire, 200,000 to 250,000 tons.
For Japan, 120,000 to 150,000 tons.

Submarine Class

For the United States, 60,000 to 90,000 tons.
For the British Empire, 60,000 to 90,000 tons.
For Japan, 36,000 to 54,000 tons.

In order to provide for the transition from the status quo to the proposed definitive tonnage limitation in the cruiser and destroyer classes it is suggested that during transition period existing cruiser and destroyers tonnage be considered together and that the tonnage to be scrapped be the excess over the combined cruiser and destroyer tonnage limitations. Replacement in each class should, however, only be permitted within the allowed maximum tonnage of that class. As applied to cruisers on the basis of a total tonnage of 300,000 tons and to destroyers on the basis of a total tonnage of 250,000 tons, the proposal would work out as indicated below.

A. The total combined tonnage of both cruiser and destroyer classes of vessels of all ages shall not exceed at any time:
For the United States, 550,000 tons.
For the British Empire, 550,000 tons.
For Japan, 330,000 tons.

B. The total tonnage of the cruiser class, less than 20 years old from the date of completion, shall not be augmented so as to exceed:
The United States, 300,000 tons.
The British Empire, 300,000 tons.
Japan, 180,000 tons.

C. The total tonnage of the destroyer class, less than 15 years old from date of completion, shall not be augmented so as to exceed:
The United States, 250,000 tons.
The British Empire, 250,000 tons.
Japan, 150,000 tons.

D. All excess in the allowed combined tonnages of vessels of the cruiser and destroyer classes now existing shall be scrapped. The choice of vessels to be scrapped shall be made by the power whose vessels are to be scrapped. Within the allowed tonnages no vessel scrapped shall be replaced until the date when she would have reached the age limit of her class.

Carnegie Company Welfare Nurses Shown Work Here

Welfare nurses of the Carnegie Steel Company's various plants in Western Pennsylvania and Eastern Ohio saw for themselves the splendid type of work being done in New Castle by the company, and the work of the various welfare agencies of the city when they were entertained here by the local force of the Carnegie Company.

Because the welfare agency of the local plant has been functioning quietly, but withal efficiently, there has been a suspicion that the other plants rather underestimated the quality of the work being done. Likewise the welfare agencies of the city. There has been little ballyhoo over it, but for years it has been going on in such a manner that the results accomplished are quite remarkable.

Welfare Party

The visit of the Welfare workers of the Carnegie Steel Company was planned as just a visit for the representatives of the other plants. It turned out to be a revelation not alone for the visitors but for the local people who were present. It was a welfare party that is bound to react favorably to the Carnegie Company and the institutions of the city.

The guests first visited the Baby Clinic in the New Castle Dry Goods Company and saw for themselves the outstanding work being done by this organization. Planned as just a short visit the guests found the work so interesting that the morning was gone before they were finished.

Following the visit to the Baby Clinic they were taken to the Elks Home where luncheon was served. Here Robert J. Tully general superintendent of the plant and his wife acted as hosts.

After luncheon the guests were taken to the Scottish Rite Cathedral and made a tour of the building. To the New Castle people this visit was not new but to those from outside the city it was something they had hardly expected. They had not visioned a building so spacious and so beautiful for a city of 55,000 inhabitants.

From the Cathedral they went to the Carnegie playground where a thousand or more youngsters were disporting themselves. The guests were delighted with the diversity of playground equipment and a large number of boys and girls present. Inside the auditorium they saw the movie program run off, a program worthy of a large picture theatre. Among the features shown were a Lindbergh reel, a sportlight reel by Grantland Rice, and a wonderfully educational reel showing episodes in American History arranged and filmed by the Educational Department of Yale University. It was explained to the guests that every reel is censored to assure the pictures shown being of the highest type available for playground use.

Next the guests went to the Benjamin Franklin Junior High School where they were shown over the plant and there to the City-County Home on the Ellwood road. They were surprised to know that only 52 guests were using the home and commented freely upon the modern home provided for the indigent in this county.

Dinner at Scout Camp

By this time dinner was the next thing to be thought of and the guests were taken to the Boy Scout camp at Kennedy's Mills. After dinner they were taken over the Boy Scout grounds and this brought additional favorable comment. At 9:15 the guests left, satisfied that the Carnegie Steel company Welfare organization and the various organizations of the city were doing a wonderful piece of work. A pleasing feature was the co-operation between the company and the organizations and this phase of the work was subjected to much comment also.

Perhaps not even the citizens of this city realize how many organizations are at work in New Castle, doing such work as has been outlined and a list of them may not be amiss here. There are seven clinics working, two of them being State Baby Clinics, a Tuberculosis Clinic, a G. U. clinic, a Dental clinic operated by the Public Schools, a Crippled Children's Clinic operated by the Rotary club, and a Clinic for the blind operated by the Lions' club.

In welfare work there are the following establishments. Margaret Henry Home for Children, Sciota Street Community House, American Sheet and Tin Plate company Community House, the Carnegie Steel playgrounds, 7 city playgrounds and the Welfare Department of the Carnegie Steel company.

The Crawford Oak Ridge Home for Girls is nearly ready to open, under the auspices of the Quota club. There are three camps, the Y. W. C. A., the Y. M. C. A., and the Boy Scout camp in addition to other private boys' camps. For women there is the Almira Home and among the aid societies there are the Children's Aid Society, Business Girls' club, Mothers' State Aid, and the Travelers' Aid Society. In general work there is the City Rescue Mission and the Salvation Army, and last of all the Community Chest which provides funds for eleven charitable organizations.

The following is the list of guests entertained by Mr. and Mrs. Robert J. Tully, at the Welfare Party held here.

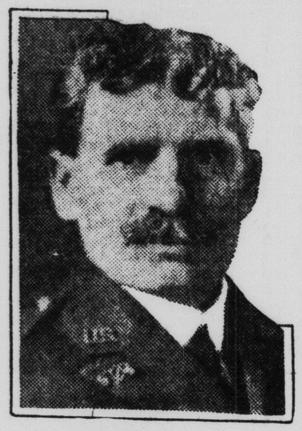
Picnic Speaker Is Notable Man

Major General A. A. Fries Speaker For Legion Picnic

FINAL DETAILS BEING ARRANGED



MAJOR GENERAL A. A. FRIES

Its seldom that a man of the standing of Major General A. A. Fries, present head of the Chemical Warfare Department of the United States Army, can be secured as a speaker and Perry S. Gaston Post, No. 343, American Legion, which is sponsoring the ex-service men's outing at Conneaut Lake Park on Wednesday of this week, is most fortunate in having secured him for the occasion.

He served with distinction ever since becoming a member of the United States Army and was the active head of the gas service, later the Chemical Warfare Department of the American Expeditionary Forces in France during the World War.

He will have something of interest to say at the ex-service men's gathering and his address will be one of the big features of the affair.

All ex-service men and their friends, who are planning to attend the outing Wednesday are urged to be at the Legion Home at 9 a. m., that morning, so that transportation can be provided for them. It will be appreciated if those persons who are planning to attend, or those who have cars in which they can haul additional persons, would get in touch with Ivor V. Davis, chairman of the transportation committee or Mr. Knowles at the Legion Home, so that the committee can plan the automobile caravan in every detail and provide for every person wanting to take in the big outing.

Chas. A. Wallace Honored At Party

NEW WILMINGTON, June 20.—Charles A. Wallace who has recently returned home after his first year at Penn. law school was tendered a dinner Friday evening by his father and mother in honor of his twenty-first birthday. Dr. W. Charles Wallace freed himself for the moment from the worries necessary to all college presidents preparing for another school year, and proved to be a very agreeable and humorous host to the small group who attended the dinner. The guests were: Joseph McFate of New Castle, James Purvis of Butler, Ronald Jones of New Wilmington, and Professor R. X. Graham of Westminster, "Chuck", his two kid sisters, "Becky" and "Billy", and Dr. and Mrs. Wallace all helped to make the occasion memorable.

B. R. And P. Office Reported Robbed

Office of the B. R. & P. railroad on Moravia street, and two box cars at that place were broken into between 8 o'clock last night and 6 o'clock this morning.

The robbery was reported to the police shortly after the arrival of an employe this morning. Officers Horner and Augostine were detailed and found that there was apparently little of value missing.

Entrance was effected into the office by breaking the glass of a window and unlocking the catch or window lock. The cars were entered by breaking the seal on the cars.

One of the cars was loaded with iron while the other was loaded with merchandise. Boxes of merchandise were broken open but apparently little or nothing taken.

McGoun Asks For Return Of Money Spent For Tickets

Claims When He Reached San Francisco There Was No Steamship Reservation For Honolulu

Herbert D. McGoun has filed a suit against the Lawrence Savings and Trust Company to collect $1,287.47, which he claims is due on the grounds that he was unable to use tickets purchased from the travel department of the bank to Honolulu. McGoun alleges that he purchased two tickets, one for himself and one for his wife from San Francisco to Honolulu and return to San Francisco, paying $810 for the tickets.

He claims that arrangements were made with A. J. Goldman of the travel department, whereby he was to leave San Francisco on a certain date and was to leave Honolulu on the return trip to San Francisco, not later than April 25, 1927.

He claims that when he and his wife arrived at San Francisco, they went to the office of the Dollar Steamship Company, as directed by Goldman, but found that the steamship company did not have any reservations, and that they could not make the trip to Honolulu, and leave at the time specified. Accordingly he returned to New Castle.

In his statement of claim McGoun is asking for the return of the $810 spent for steamship tickets to Honolulu and also for the money expended in railroad fare and Pullman berths from New Castle to San Francisco, amounting in all to $1287.47.

Home Coming Week At People's Mission

Week Of Services In Progress At McCleary Avenue Mission

Homecoming week at the People's Mission, 703 Sampson street, formerly known as the McCleary Avenue Mission, and in existence in that section of the city for the past 36 years, was inaugurated last evening, with a large number of people in attendance. The services will continue all week, coming to a close on June 26.

Last evening was known as homecoming night and many former members of the mission were in attendance. Brother Dick Owery was the speaker of the evening, welcoming back home to the mission all those who were interested in former years or may have moved to other places.

The service was opened with a special song service. Mr. Hopkins gave some interesting testimony concerning the work of the mission in years gone by, while Mrs. Hopkins closed the testimony service by singing the hymn, "Ninety and Nine". The young people then sang a hymn, "Away". Harry Shaffer, who has been in Texas for the past nine months, then read the Scripture lesson. The young men's class then sang, "There Is No Other Love Like Jesus". The sermon of Brother Owery was then given.

Tonight has been designated as speakers' night and there will be a number of interesting talks by persons who have benefited by the mission. The meetings start each evening at 7:30 o'clock.

Twenty Four Other Counties Will Elect Judges During Fall

Lawrence county will not be alone in the election of a judge this fall, as 24 other counties must elect one or more judges to fill positions on the various benches. In all there will be 47 judges to elect, 39 of them being judges learned in the law and eight associate judges. The associate judges need not be learned in the law, as they are elected to assist in minor matters in districts containing more than one county.

Seventeen of the judges whose terms expire this year are appointees of former Governor Gifford Pinchot and four are appointees of the present governor, John S. Fisher. Fifteen others have served terms of 10 years each.

Here in Lawrence county the judgeship to be filled is the one created by the 1927 session of the legislature. At the time of the creation of the judgeship Governor Fisher said that he wanted to "fill the vacancy speedily". He has not made any appointment and there seems to be every reason to believe now that he will not make an appointment.

Another vacancy created but not yet filled is in Philadelphia. The Berks county judgeship created in the last session has been filled.

Quota Club Doll Show Made An International Feature At Convention

Doll Show feature originated by the New Castle Quota Club two years ago was made an international feature at the international convention of the Quota Club held in Baltimore, Md., Thursday & Friday June 16 and 17, according to Mrs. Lola McCormick, delegate to the convention.

The Doll show is to be written by the John B. Rodgers Producing company and is to be shown at the different cities where the Quota Clubs are located. These shows will then be allowed for presentation exclusively by the Quota Clubs. The delegates and members of the New Castle club present at the convention had much influence in making this an international feature.

The pottery poster gotten out by the New Castle Quota Club and exhibited at the convention in Baltimore received many favorable comments.

An exhibit of posters of all the different activities in which women are engaged was held at the convention. Each club had a poster prepared and put on exhibit. The pottery poster which was assigned to the New Castle Quota Club was prepared by the Shenango Pottery Company and well represented the activities of women in that industry.

Mrs. Lola McCormick and Mrs. Wolford were the delegates at the convention from the New Castle Club. Other members of the New Castle Club who were present were Mrs. Elizabeth White who is one of the directors of the International, Mrs. Orra Snyder, Mrs. Olive Kammerer and Dr. Mildred Rodgers.

Perry Highway Association Sees Success After Long Efforts For New Route

Surveys will be made by the State Highways Department and construction started for a considerable milage on the Perry Highway during the next two years according to the Perry Highway Association of which Fred L. Rentz, has been elected vice president, to fill the vacancy caused by the death of David Jameson.

Mr. Rentz was one of the original boosters of the trunk line highway between Pittsburgh and Erie, the association reports. It is said that his enthusiastic co-operation given to the movement when he appeared as a delegate in the Good Roads Convention held in Erie, January, 20, 1917, and his unfaltering loyalty since for the route adopted at the convention made him a worthy successor to Mr. Jameson.

The first organized movement to promote the construction of a hard road from Pittsburgh to Erie was held in December, 1916, in the room of the Chamber of Commerce of Pittsburgh, at the call of G. Henry Schmuck, now president of the Perry Highway Association as well as president of the Western Pennsylvania Good Roads Association. Soon after this meeting tremendous activities followed.

The convention held at Erie in 1917 adopted for the route of the highway the most direct road from Pittsburgh to Erie, the two largest cities in Western Pennsylvania, having the best gradient of any trunk road out of Pittsburgh. In spite of many who envied places fortunate enough to be located on the adopted route of the Perry Highway the association remained steadfast to its purpose.

The route of the Perry Highway follows:

"Pittsburgh to Wexford to Zelienople to Portersville to Harlansburg to Mercer to Sheakleyville to Meadville to Saegertown to Venango, via 'plank road' to its junction with State Route No. 258 thence to Edinboro, to McLane to McKean to Kearsage and to Erie."

The Western Pennsylvania Good Roads Associaton with membership in seventeen counties, with which the Perry Highway Association is closely affiliated, has had a large part in boosting the Perry Highway project which is much greater than that of a purely local road.

In addition to the support given by City Civic Organizations there were filed with the department at Harrisburg endorsements given by many rural organizations in cooperating with the Perry Highway Associaton.

The officers of the Perry Highway Association state that it is not soliciting funds and at no time has it authorized persons outside of its official board to solicit or receive funds. The association has no need for funds, as its officers pay their own expenses incurred on business for the association. The entire cost of construction will be paid by the state.

At that many a man's instincts are more reliable than his so-called judgment.

BOULEVARD MAY NOW BE RENAMED

Pittsburgh Man Honor Lindy By Renaming "Boulevard Of The Allies"

By CARL L. TURNER
International News Service Staff Correspondent

PITTSBURGH, June 20.—A group of influential Pittsburghers intend to honor Col. Charles A. Lindbergh, the trans-atlantic "comet" by naming one of the city's most important thoroughfares after him.

For a long time the name," "Boulevard of the Allies," has caused postoffice department and correspondents alike no end of trouble, being entirely too long to fit nicely on envelopes. Abbreviation is impossible.

So the city fathers began casting their weather eye about for a more suitable name, and no substitute more acceptable generally than Lindbergh Boulevard has been mentioned.

Pittsburgh wishes to honor the dauntless hero of uncharted airlines for two reasons; the propeller of the "Spirit of St. Louis," his beloved monoplane, was tooled from steel cast in this city, and he is recognized as the hero of modern times here.

Various other names have been suggested from time to time but all were vetoed by the city's World War veterans who were instrumental in calling the highway chiseled out midway up in the rock bank along the Monongahela river, "Boulevard of the Allies."

Diplomacy And Politics Share Lindy's Homecoming, 'Tis Said

By CHARLES P. STEWART
Exclusive Central Press Dispatch to New Castle News.

WASHINGTON, June 20.—Lindy wasn't hustled home in order to let President Coolidge welcome him without postponing his own departure for the Black Hills.

That's been intimated — that Lindy's good time in Europe was cut short to prevent delaying the presidential vacation.

It's true Charlie was dragged hither before he was very ready to come. It's true there were reasons why his return from abroad was much desired by the Washington government. It's true the young flyer's personal wishes were somewhat subordinated to what was deemed this country's best interests.

But as for the president's vacation—well, if that was thought of at all, at least it wasn't the principal consideration.

Trustworthy inside dope credits Ambassador Herrick, in Paris, with evolving the theory that Lindy had been overseas about long enough.

His line of reasoning was substantially thus:

Lindy's visit here (in France) has been a positively incredible success. It's transformed relations between the old and the new worlds, overnight, from nothing-to-brag-about to the-pleasantest-anybody-could-ask. The thing can't be improved on, because it's perfection now. It would be tempting providence to keep it up. Something might go wrong.

* * *

In just what words the ambassador clothed this thought, for the state department's benefit, we don't know, but it's certain that he put the idea across.

The state department also denies that it sent word to Lindy to hurry home.

Sure not.

It wouldn't have been diplomatic. The state department couldn't have made him do it anyway. Suppose it had tried, to and Lindy had balked. A nice situation! He couldn't very well have been extradited.

However, as Charlie says, he "found a warship waiting" for him.

That politics figured in the diversion of Lindy's initial greeting from New York to Washington is a charge certain to be made in the next congress, when the aggrieved element will have a chance to get it into the record and circulate it—gratis.

Of course it can't be proved, and if it could, nothing could be done about it, but plenty of statesmen can jower about it—and will.

They say so already. They say, not only that the administration hornswaggled the other folks, as between New York and Washington, but discriminated against them on the capital committees until they raised such a roar that a few of them were taken care of at the last minute, to avoid looking hoggish.

It may seem cheap to associate politics and Lindy.

All the same, partisans on both sides agree that it would have been worth a lot to Al Smith to have been first to grip Charlie's hand on his arrival, to have broken into the first American pictures with him and to have shared in the very first celebration over him.

Oh, yes, Al had his chance later, and it was a record blow-out, but the best judges declare a little bit of the razor edge was off, from Al's standpoint—not so far as New York was concerned, indeed, but nationally, which presumably is what the Cal-ites and the Al-ites are especially thinking about just now.

You simply can't get away from politics at this stage of the game, in connection with anything—not in this town, at any rate.

In spite of the most strenuous efforts of bandits, savings deposits in banks increased a billion dollars in the last year.

for this new hygienic pad that discards easily as tissue—no laundry

By ELLEN J. BUCKLAND
Registered Nurse

THERE is now an exquisite successor to the old-time "sanitary pad." A new way that offers far greater protection. A way that ends the old problem of disposal.

Eight in 10 better-class women now use "Kotex."

✔ Discards like tissue. No laundry. No embarrassment.

Five times as absorbent as ordinary cotton pads.

Deodorizes, thus ending all danger of offending.

Obtainable at all drug and department stores simply by saying "Kotex." You ask for it without hesitancy.

Be sure to get the genuine. Only Kotex itself is "like" Kotex. In fairness to yourself, try it.

PRESIDENT AND MRS. COOLIDGE ENJOY BEAUTIES OF BLACK HILLS

President and Mrs. Coolidge have expressed great delight over their choice of the Black Hills of South Dakota as a summer retreat. Here are photos just received: (1) State Game Lodge, as it looks now as the summer home of the Chief Executive of the nation; (2) Squaw Creek, where the President has found fishing good; (3) Governor W. J. Bulow of South Dakota, a Democrat, photographed as he greeted (very happily) a Republican President; (4) first snapshot of President Coolidge in South Dakota; (5) the main street of Custer, ten miles from the "summer White House" and town in which President and Mrs. Coolidge attend church; (6) cottage occupied by Everett Sanders, the President's secretary, the small figures in the foreground being Colonel E. P. Starling of the White House staff, who selected the site; U. S. Senator Peter Norbeck of South Dakota; and Paul E. Bellamy, president of the Black Hills Transportation Co.; (7) one of the numerous tunnels on the Needles Highway, near the summer home.

$25,000 FOR LINDY, THE LONE EAGLE

Colonel Charles Lindbergh is $25,000 richer as a result of his daring New York-Paris flight, despite his rejection of scores of offers to appear in vaudeville and on the screen and recommend garters, baby pacifiers and aviation accessories. Photos show the check handed him by Raymond Orteig, New Yorker who put up the reward for the flight; the Presentation by Colonel Walter Scott, with Orteig in center, and latest closeup of Lindy.

Aquatic Lindy

Hugo Hoahna is another man who is going to take off on a a lonely 4,000 mile trip. But he's going by water—from Providence, R. I., to the Canary Islands, his home, accompanied only by Bobbie, his dog, in the schooner Dispatch. Like Lindy, he'll navigate only by compass, but his trip will take him three months.

Voice Unfailing

Bad feet, and not cracked tonsils, are causing the resignation of Walter D. Smith, last of America's town criers. For years he has been crying the latest news in the streets of Provincetown, Mass.

Central Press telephoto of Colonel Charles A. Lindbergh again setting foot on Missouri soil—at Lambert Flying Field, St. Louis, from which he used to fly the air mail. He is shown being greeted by Mayor V. J. Miller, as he completed his flight from New York in the Spirit of St. Louis.

Al to Surrender His Golden Smile

Al Smith's famous "golden smile" will soon be a thing of the past. Dentists will remove his elaborate display of gold crowns and bridgework to end his troubles with infected teeth. Enamel work will replace them Political observers, however, saw a significance in the change. Al, they said, wants to be a less ornate Presidential candidate.

LINDY SEES FRIEND TROUNCED

Scene as Colonel Charles A. Lindbergh, champion of the air, visited the Polo Grounds, New York, to see his friend, Ace Hudkins of Nebraska, match punches with Sammy Baker, a top sergeant of Mitchel Field. While Lindy was royally received by the 40,000 fight fans, Ace Hudkins was given a royal trouncing by his opponent, the fight being stopped in the seventh round to save him from further punishment. The photo above shows, left to right: Joe Humphries, veteran announcer; Mayor Jimmie Walker; Colonel Lindbergh, and Edward J. JUST PRACTICE

Looks like a thrilling rescue, doesn't it? It's not. Picture shows Traffic Officer E. L. Raethke, of Seattle, participating in rescue drill work with a life-like dummy. Rather hazardous practice, though.

Births In New Castle Just Twice Deaths In Year, Reports Show

By GEORGE H. MANNING.
(Washington Correspondent of the News.)

WASHINGTON, D. C., June 20.—Births outnumbered deaths in New Castle two to one last year despite the fact that the city's birth rate was lower and its death rate higher than in 1925.

Last year there were 1,290 births in New Castle while death claimed 616. When these figures are compared with statistics for the preceding year however, it is shown that the birth rate decreased from 26.5 per 1,000 of population in 1925 to 25.4 last year and the death rate increased from 11.8 to 12.1. Of the total number of deaths reported, 94 were infants under the age of one year. The infant mortality rate, therefore was 72.9 per every 1,000 births, representing an increase when compared with the 71.2 rate for 1925.

Nearby Town Figures.

There were decreases in both the birth and death rates in Butler. There were 471 births last year, or 18.5 per 1,000 of population as compared with 20.8 for 1925. Deaths reported numbered 188 of 7.4 per 1,000 of population as compared with 12.3 for the preceding year.

In Beaver Falls there were 348 births reported, or 26.4 per every 1,000 of population, the rate being the same as in 1925. There were 223 deaths or 16..9 per 1,000 an increase over the 1925 rate of 16.3.

In both Butler and Beaver Falls the infant mortality rate dropped nearly 50 per cent.

State's Records.

New Jersey's birth rate decreased and its death rate increased when statistics for 1925 are compared with those for last year. A total of 72,402 births were reported for the state last year, representing a rate of 19.7 births for every 1,000 of population. The year before the rate was 20.6 births per 1,000 of population. The total number of deaths reported last year was 44,878 of 12.2 deaths per every 1,000 of population. This was an increase over the previous year's death rate of 11.7 per 1,000 of population. Of the total numer of deaths in the state 5,075 were infants under the age of one year. The infant mortality rate for the state increased from 68.9 per 1,000 births in 1925 to 70.1 last year.

Birth rates for 1926 were lower than for 1925 in 26 of 28 states for which statistics are available. Florida with a rate of 26.4 births per 1,000 of population and Montana with a rate of 14.2 per 1,000 of population, showed the highest and lowest rates, respectively. In 23 out of the 28 states, death rates wer higher last year than in 1925. The highest death rate is shown for Florida where there were 15.3 deaths per 1,000 of population and the lowest for Montana where the rate was 7.8 deaths per 1,000 of population.

Infantant mortality rates for 1926 were generally higher than those for 1925 as 21 of the 28 states show higher rates in 1926. For states the highest rate appears for Delaware and the lowest for Oregon. Out of 48 cities of 100,000 population or more, 27 showed higher infant mortality rates last year than in the previous year. The highest rate of 107.4 was recorded for Richmond, Va., and the lowest rate of 28.7 for Portland, Ore.

Mrs. Lindbergh Is Growing Tired Of Much Publicity

Rather Doubts Whether Sons Rise In World Renown Is Worth All Publicity

(International News Service)

ST. LOUIS, June 20.—Mrs. Evangeline Lodge Lindbergh doubts whether her son's rise to world renown is worth the penalty paid in publicity.

The mother of the world's best known young man said so Saturday during an interview. With newspapermen asking her the same questions she had answered in Washington and New York, Mrs. Lindbergh finally showed a trace of annoyance.

"What can I say any more than I have said over and over again?" she demanded. "Of course I'm happy; of course I've had a wonderful time. Of course I've enjoyed it all. Who wouldn't? Everybody has been so kind."

"Well, perhaps this publicity isn't so heavy a penalty to pay for so much glory," a newspaperman observed.

"I don't know about that," Lindy's mother said, swiftly. "Every word one says is repeated; everything about me is published."

That ended the interview.

For the third time Dr. Thomas Masaryk has been elected President of Czecho-Slovakian Republic. He is the only man who has been head of that State since it was founded at the end of the war. Only a few Communists voted against his re-election for a further term of seven years. Before "Czecho-Slovakia" existed Dr. Masaryk was affectionately called "Father Masaryk" by the Bohemians, Moravians and neighboring peoples. He is 77. As a youth he was a blacksmith. Later he became a world-renowned professor. From the beginning of his career he worked ardently for the welfare of his country. Dr. Masaryk spent several years in America, lecturing at the leading universities. His wife was a New England woman and his daughter was for some years a settlement worker in Chicago.

SILVER JUBILEE TO BE MARKED BY BIG PAGEANT AT FARRELL

FARRELL, Pa., June 20.—Farrell's silver jubilee parade, to be held July 4, will be the largest ever held in the Shenango Valley, under present plans. The line will be one and one-half miles long and will contain more than 3,600 persons. Many bands and a large number of elaborate floats will be in line. An outdoor stadium will be erected for the staging of the pageant. "The Spirit of Progress," it was decided today. More than 400 will take part in the production. The stadium will probably be built in Haywood street, between Wallis and Spearman avenues. Invitations will be mailed soon to every county, city, borough and township official in the county and a general invitation is extended to the public to be present for the jubilee events.

Another Claimant For State Public School Attendance Record

(International News Service)

CLEARFIELD, Pa., June 20.—Clearfield presents its own claimant to the school attendance record of Pennsylvania in the person of Raymond Hughes, who was graduated recently from the Clearfield High school.

School authorities go further, and claim for Hughes a national championship. The youth attended public schools for fourteen years without a single absence from classes, and without a single tardiness being marked up against him.

The youth's feat is more remarkable, his friends point out, in that his family moved to three communities during his first years in school.

Further laurels are heaped on the boy's head when it is revealed he was one of the best known high school football players in this district, considered one of the finest ends who ever donned a Clearfield uniform.

Hughes' record tops by one year those held by members of the Showalter family of Huntingson, Pa.

These lads were gladly carrying the camp outfit from the third to the first floor in making ready for the camping material to be transported to the camp site. Among things that will be taken are: tents, including 6 for sleeping quarters, one for mess, one for cooking one for recreation and one for headquarters; several barrels of dishes, sporting goods, four large stoves, several boxes of books, and fifty sleeping cots.

During the first part of next week all of this will be moved to the camp and set up for the first group of boys who will invade the fine camping site on July 5.

New U. P. Church To Be Ready In Fall

Special Windows Are Now Being Placed In New East Side Church

Work On Installation Of Pipe Organ To Be Started During July

According to Rev. S. B. Copeland, pastor of the Third United Presbyterian church of this city, the new edifice of the congregation being constructed on the corner of East Washington and Adams street, will be completed about the latter part of September.

The church when completed will be one of the finest in this section. The exterior will be set off wth three beautiful windows, one portraying the Good Shepherd, on the East Washington street side, one representing the Garden of Gethsemane on the Adams street side and another on the side towards the parsonage portraying the Empty Tomb. The actual work in putting these magnificent windows into place has just commenced. Special workmen are here to do this.

The windows will be bordered by a beautiful stone designing.

According to Rev. Copeland, the downstairs of the new auditorium will seat 680, while the balcony will hold 280 persons. The sloping floor in the new church will be started next week. The placing of the beautiful beams has been finished and the plastering work also, so the workmen will start work on the main auditorium floor as soon as the scaffolding is down. Two huge beams cross the ceiling at either end of the auditorium, while four beams come together in the center of the ceiling in the middle.

The church will have a fine four manuel Moller organ. It will include a harp, chimes, and echo attachments. Installation of it will commence shortly after July 10.

The beginners, primary and junior departments will be located on the main floor, the young people on the second floor with the adults in the basement. These classes will have very beautiful rooms provided for them. The basement which is almost completed will have a small stage where plays and the like can be given.

The tile mantel in the pastor's study will be put in next week.

Bookcases built in will be constructed following the tile work.

The new home of the Third U. P. congregation will be one of the finest and most modern church edifices in this section when the construction work is brought to a close.

PETERS ADVENTURES IN ANIMAL LAND

By Florence Smith Vincent

THE HARD WORKING SPADE AND Shovel

There was something in Matty Mole's tone as he said those words that made the boy shiver.

"I say, Matty let's get out of this fortress. It a fine bit of architecture—the more I see and hear of it the more wonderful do I think you Moles are to be able to build anything so grand, but it is too much like a prison to suit me. You have made me feel as if any moment some one might pop out of one of those doorways upon us. You could run away, for you know your way through a Mole hill, but I should be caught, for I don't. I would be lost in a second—why, it is just like a mystic maze! How do you get out of here, anyhow? Did you come through this corridor?" Peter pointed to the entrance nearest to him. Mole chuckled.

"Yes, we did, but I'll bet you would choose the wrong exit to the broad highwoy, once you were out of the gallery. You see, the passages break off and run into each other so unexpecterly that there would be no hope for you once you left me. Don't worry, though! I am with you, and with you I remain until you decide to leave the underworld."

"That reminds me that I have been here a long, long while. I wonder what time it is—do you know? I am afraid I ought to be going," Peter asked his companion. Mole thought for a moment.

"Not exactly," said he. "But it was just noon when I chased Mike the Meddler to the surface, and that was ages ago. I am beginning to grow sleepy. I have been so interested in talking to you that I had almose forgotten my afternoon nap. You see, I shall have to work hard tonight and if I haven't slept for three hours I shall not get my usual tasks done. Night comes before you know it in Moledom."

"I shouldn't think you ever know it, down here in the dark all the time," remarked the boy, and then noticing Matty give an impatient shrug, he hastily changed the subject.

"Do you work all night long?" asked he.

"No, only about three hours at a time. We Moles have shifts, you know. Three hours on duty, three hours off, and of course, we sleep most of the time we are not laboring. Let me tell you we work with might and main though, when we do get started."

"What do you do?" asked Peter.

"Dig!" replied the other. "Dig and eat! And then dig again! We work for the love of working! Nobody makes us, you know. We drain the land for the Two-Leg farmers and enrich his ground by continually bringing fresh earth to take the place of that out of which the nourishment has gone. Whether he knows it or not, we act as spades and shovels for him and his work is much lighter and his crops much heavier because of our help."

"But don't you steal the seeds he puts in the ground, his peas and corn and beans?" asked Peter. "I heard someone say you did."

Allege Stones Hurled Into Car

Brothers Arrested In Mercer County Following Alleged Family Argument

(Special To The News)

MERCER, June 20.—Irwin and Quay Bestwick, aged 37 and 31, are reposing in the Mercer County jail, and Norman Bestwick and his wife, are nursing bruises and cuts, the after-math of an alleged family argument, and rock-hurling episode, that occurred at the Bestwick family home, near Jackson Center on Saturday night.

Another brother, Clifford, is still at large, and is hunted by Mercer County officials. The arrest of Irwin and Quay Bestwick was made on Sunday at the family home by Sheriff W. A. Bone, on warrants sworn out by the victims of the attack. The warrants charge the brothers with felonious assault.

It is alleged that Norman Bestwick and his wife drove to the Bestwick home Saturday night in their sedan. It is reported that a family row occurred, and that the two brothers who now are incarcerated in jail, threw large stones through the machine windows. The occupants of the car were cut by flying glass and the missles.

The three Bestwick brothers, following the attack fled into the woods near their home and made their escape. Irwin and Quay returned to their home on Sunday morning and were later arrested and taken to Mercer. Clifford failed to return home.

Sheriff Bone has in his possession the stones, three in number, alleged to have been thrown at the machine. The injuries to Norman Bestwick and his wife are not serious, it was stated today.

A Presidential election every year would be expensive, but think of the tax cuts we'd get just before the balloting.

Making Progress In Organization Of Flying Squadron

Alec Samuels Says Many Are Volunteering; Jack Hulme In Charge

Formation of the "Flying Squadron", a group of expert swimmers of the county, being sponsored by the Castle Aquatic Club, is proceeding nicely, according to Alec Samuels, manager of the club.

Mr. Samuels states that he has secured Jack Hulme, well-known swimming expert, to supervise the squadron. This will be of interest to everyone, for Mr. Hulme is known for his service by many.

Mr. Samuels states that he has prepared information blanks for those joining the squadron to fill out to enable him to find the members immediately should it be necessary to do so.

At the top of the information blank are the words "Flying Squadron Life Saving Corps".

On the first line to the left is a space reserved for the name of the member; to the right the telephone number. On the second line a space is reserved for the street on which the member lives and also the city.

Farther down the page are the words "Where do you work? On the opposite side the telephone number. Under this is "Where do you loaf?" and the telephone number. Then "Where can you be found in the evening, and the telephone number", "In what other ways can you be located in a short notice?"

"Are you a Red Cross life saver? Have you had any experience with the pulmotor? Have you had any experience with resuscitation? and remarks follow.

This information will help immensely, as it will give the data that will be necessary to find the members. These blanks can be had at the Y. M. C. A. by all those wishing to join the group.

Mr. Samuels states that a list of the persons who have joined already has not been compiled yet. As soon as this is done and everything is completed the names of the members will be published.

East Brook U. P. Picnic On Friday

Plans Being Made For Picnic At Grove Near Church

Annual picnic of the Eastbrook United Presbyterian Sabbath school will be held in the grove adjoining the church on Friday, June 24, according to announcement by the superintendent, James B. Jamison.

The picnic will be a basket picnic and all members of the Sabbath school are asked to bring their families and friends and well-filled baskets. If the day is not suitable to have dinner in the grove, it will be held in the Sabbath school room of the church.

It has been suggested that the men of the congregation come early and help in the clearing of the cemetery adjoining the church property.

Plans are being carried out for the clearing of the cemetery and sowing to a good sod. Subscription have been made sufficient to carry on the work for several days and with volunteer help and future contributions it is hoped to make this cemetery a much more beautiful place. The work is being done under the supervision of T. J. McKnight, Any volunteer work or contributions by friends of the cemetery association will be gladly received.

FALSE ALARM OCCURS SATURDAY EVENING

Firemen were called to the vicinity of Leasure avenue and Albert street Saturday evening about 11:20 o'clock by an alarm from Box 27. It was found to be a false alarm, no fire being located in the district by the firemen answering the call.

There are advantages in the sticks. More population, more rules; more rules, less liberty.

Indian Village Is New Feature For Lawrence Co. Scouts At Camp Phillips

Half a score of Lawrence County Boy Scouts were due to arrive at Camp John M. Phillips. Everything is in "Scout shape," which means perfect shape for the opening of the first camp period.

Camp routine will begin with the arrival of the scouts today.

Those registered for the camp this year will find new features, which guarantee the most extensive season of camping and scouting in the history of the Lawrence County Scout campaign. A new "Indian Village" situated on the very banks of the Slippery Rock, and a swimming surprise are the main features of the summer program.

LeRoy Norton, instructor of physical education at Ben Franklin Junior high school will head the staff as camp director. Mr. Norton will be assisted by a staff of junior officers, who have attained distinction in scouting. A scalp system of merits, which is a revision of the system used last season has been arranged for the season. This system consists of awards to scouts who do work for the purpose of benefiting the camp and scouts who advance in the organization by passing tests. The supreme scalp, which is a skull cap worn by the winner is called the "war bonnett." It will be made by an Indian tribe and presented to the scout in a ceremony fitting to the honor achieved by the scout. Three years is the minimum time in which the scout can win the "war bonnett." Credit will be given to all the scouts who advanced in the camping season of last year.

Permanent kitchen police have been arranged for the camp. Dishes will take the place of the mess kits, which were used formerly. Boys acting as kitchen police will receive a free summer at the camp.

Nicholas R. Casillo will have charge of the swimming program of the camp. Casillo is a certified life guard. He intends to give special instructions in life saving. C. R. Knally of Ellwood City is assistant executive for the season.

Indian Village New Feature

Yohema lodge, meaning spirit of the forest, is the name of the main lodge in the new Indian village, which is proving the greatest attraction in the camp this year. All the boys who live in this village will live in true Indian fashion, and learn Indian secrets of wood craft. They will learn how to care for themselves in the woods. Owen Pennfield Fox, artist and student of Indian lore and custom has charge of this village. Mr. Fox constructed Yohema Lodge. This tepee is copied from those used by the plains Indians.

Service of special merit must be rendered before scouts are permitted to enjoy the experience of living in the village. The village is situated on the very banks of the Slippery Rock just above where the Indian foot print was found imbedded in the rock during the first year of the John M. Phillips camp. All the surroundings have been left unmarred by the advance of civilization. There is a true Indian atmosphere throughout the whole village. Three tepees are planned for village. In the center of the village a sacred fire will be kept burning continuously. This fire will be lit by the use of the fire bow; no matches will be allowed in the village.

Indian archery will be taught in the village, with Mr. Fox, who is especially skillful in the uses of a bow, as instructor. Archery practice will be held each day in a protected range near the village.

The spot which has been selected for the village might almost be called the fulfillment of natures beauty. It is surrounded by high pine and fern covered rocks, while the clear waters of the Slippery Rock flow just beneath it. A stream of spring water passes through the village.

FACING THE MUSIC

"Bobby", inquired his pa, "did you wash your face before the music teacher came?"

"Yep."

"And your ears?"

Anybody ever hear a flapper sing "Home Sweet Home?"

Healthy Millions Take Kruschen Every Morning

"Why do so many healthy people take their two tablets of Kruschen Salts every morning?" Asked Jim.

"To keep themselves healthy, you dumbell," answered Tim.

Tim is right: Millions of people with not one blessed thing the matter with them take their two tablets of Kruschen Salts in their coffee every morning because it keeps them feeling gloriously fit and fine.

It keeps the eliminating organs in an active healthy condition all the time, thus preventing poisonous waste from entering the blood stream.

Kruschen Salts is not a cathartic—you won't need a cathartic or even a laxative after you take your little daily dose of Kruschen for two weeks—your bowels, liver and kidneys will all be vigorous enough and energetic enough to bring about healthy elimination. 60 Tablets, 60 cents, at Eckerd's of New Castle, New Castle Drug Co. and live druggists everywhere in the world. Get that Kruschen feeling. It's the little daily dose that does it.

Probe Fantastic Plot Evidence

Declare Plans Were Made To Kill Family Of Three

(International News Service)

NEW BRUNSWICK, N. J., June 20.—Further evidence to substantiate the fantistic and amazing story of a plot to kill a family of three, is being sought by the authorities today as Miss Bessie Morse, aged 40, and well to do, was released upon $7,000 bail. The bail was furnished by Miss Morse's 84-year old fother, a wealthy land owner of Prospect Plains.

Miss Morse and her negro maid, Mamie Todd, thirty-one, are charged with conspiracy to murder. The charge was made after County Detective David declared before Judge Kirkpatrick that evidence had been obtained to connect them with a plot to kill Miss Morse's sister, Mrs. Grace Dey, her husband, Elmer, and their adopted son, Raymond, seventeen.

The original plan, it is alleged, was to kill Miss Morse's father and mother, Mrs. Catherine Morse, died of natural causes on April 24.

Miss Morse denies all charges and has engaged Freeman Woodbridge of New Brunswick, to defend her.

The culmination of several weeks' work by Detective David and his two aides, in which they posed as gunmen, came Friday with the arrest of Mamie Todd. Saturday, Miss Morse was arrested.

MENU HINTS

Following is a sample of a platter meal. Use large sized dinner plates to serve such a meal, if you have not the regular platter meal plates with partitions. The variety of foods served in this way is legion, and much dishwashing is saved.

Hard Cooked Eggs
Mashed Potatoes
Buttered Peas Sliced Tomatoes

Today's Recipes

Platter Meal—At one end of the plate put a mound of mashed potatoes, light and fluffy. The snowy whiteness is accented by the paprika sprinkled lightly over top. Beside the potatoes are hot buttered peas. Then hard cooked eggs cut in halves and sauted while still hot, flank the potatoes on either side. At the end are slices of ice cold tomatoes. These have been marinated in French dressing for an hour. Any kind of salad may take the place of the tomatoes.

The combination is a good example of a platter meal, planned with an eye to beauty, taste and ease of serving.

SUGGESTIONS

Scrubbing Floors

Always wipe up the floor with a rag wrung out of cold water after the scrubbing process. It is almost as important as the loosening of the dirt. Do not let small puddles of water stand after mopping up the floor. They will soften the wood, causing the floor to splinter easily, and if left on linoleum will cause it to blister.

Help in Pulling

Tie a button on the end of the string attached to small sonny's wagon or truck so he has something tangible to hold. The end of the string slips through his fingers if there is nothing on it to prevent.

PENNSYLVANIA BATTLES BESSEMER FOR FIRST PLACE

Hutnic To Hurl For P. R. R. Team

Bessemer Has Led Lawrence County League Throughout Season

STAGE GAME TONIGHT AT MAHONINGTOWN

Should the Pennsylvania defeat Bessemer this evening at Mahoningtown they will lead the Lawrence county league and as a result of the hot rivalry between the two teams a large crowd will be present to witness the contest.

Dan Potter, manager of the Pennsylvania announced today that he would send Hutnic to the mound but Hub Hart, pilot of the Bessemer team, at noon said he had not determined what pitcher will grace the hill when the game is called.

"If Hutnic's pitching is supported with good hitting we will beat Bessemer and go into first place," said Manager Potter today as he made arrangements to handle the large crowd that is expected to turn out to witness the game.

Bessemer has been leading the league from the start and will receive a thorough test. The Pennsylvania has been cutting down opposition like a grass-mower and if the sun drys the ground sufficiently a fast setto should be staged. The game will start at six o'clock daylight savings time.

Mackey And Miller Engage In Mound Duel At Bessemer Takes Victory

Bessemer nosed out the Neshannocks, 3 to 2, in a fast game at Bessemer on Saturday afternoon. Bessemer by their victory retains the leadership in the Lawrence County League.

The Bessemerites shoved over their winning run in the ninth inning after one man was out. Mackey, on the knoll for the Neshannocks, pitched a fine game, holding the heavy hitting Bessemer team to two hits and fanning seven men, his wildness in passing six batters proving fatal. Miller occupied the mound for the league leaders and allowed but six hits and fanned 10 men.

Fahey, the Bessemer first baseman, scored two of the runs for the winners, with Hood crossing the plate with the third tally. Hood and Miller were the only Bessemer players able to hit Mackey.

The Neshannocks had three errors, which failed to help matters any. The game was one of the best played in the county league this year.

Canton Here Thursday In Big Booster Game

New Castle To Play Canton Here Thursday Night At Centennial Field

Mayor William H. Dunlap And Chamber Of Commerce Support Booster Game

By "BUGS" WALTHER.

Endorsed by Mayor William H. Dunlap and the Chamber of Commerce, the New Castle team of the Ohio and Pennsylvania league will play Canton here Thursday night at Centennial field. The game will start at 6:15 o'clock and is known as a "BOOSTER DAY" attraction.

The New Castle team is struggling along at the present time with their chin barely out of the water, as the saying goes and unless the citizens of New Castle get back of the locals they are liable to be forced into hanging out the closed-up sign. The team is in extremely bad circumstances as regards the matter of finances.

It takes perfectly good money to run a baseball team .If New Castle is to continue as a member of the popular O. and P. league they must get better support from the citizens of the town, otherwise this city will be out of the running. The directors of the New Castle team are doing everything within their power to maintain a team here but the expenses are piling up sky high with the gate receipts at every game to date away below the average, the matter has come to a show-down.

New Castle fans desire good baseball and if the locals are to give the local fans the kind of baseball they demand they must pay the price asked by players. Ball players are human like everybody else and they must be paid for their services. The salaries of the local team run into big money.

The directors of the New Castle team are to be complimented on the spirit shown this year. Even in the face of disaster they have gone ahead and signed up a first class ball team. New Castle to date has had fairly good success in the league circles. Many of the defeats of recent date have been by one or two runs.

New Castle will struggle along for the first half of the league season which closes on July 4 but the matter of entering the second half is entirely up to the fans.

Let's get behind this Booster Day game and push.

Shields Pitches Great Game As Pennsy Boys Slug Way To Victory

The Pennsy Railroad team defeated Croton in a Lawrence County League game Saturday afternoon at the P. R. R. field by a score of 14 to 4.

The game was a slugfest, with the winners banging out 11 hits off three Croton pitchers. Croton could not solve the delivery of Shields with any degree of effectiveness and had but five safe blows.

The P. R. R. contingent hammered out enough hits in the first inning to score four runs. Heavy hitting in the sixth, seventh and eighth innings added seven more runs to the total.

Jones, Guinaugh and Swinehart were the best hitters for the P. R. R., with Blaine and Leslie the best for Croton. The Croton team turned in seven errors that aided in the scoring of the Pennsy outfit.

Tildon Flashes Old Time Form At Wimbledon

"Big Bill" Defeats England Player In Easy Fashion In Tourney Game

By F. A. WRAY,
International News Service Staff Correspondent

WIMBLEDON, England, June 20.—"Big Bill" Tilden inaugurated the Wimbledon Tennis championship today with an easy victory over G. A. Pratt of England.

Playing before a huge and fashionable crowd in the centre court, Tilden ran out a victory at 6-2, 6-1, 6-0, in a most casual manner.

Pratt had just barely managed to qualify for the tournament. Tilden playing in a light hearted manner, occasionally drove into the net to make the score more interesting.

During the last set Tilden speeded up and amidst applause from the gallery displayed unusually fine tennis, scoring service ace after service ace.

Feigert Pitches Fine Game For Locals In Victory At Butler Saturday

BUTLER, Pa., June 20.—The New Castle O. & P. team met and conquered the Butler Bruinoils, here Saturday afternoon. The final score was 9 to 1. Butler scored a lone tally in the sixth inning, to escape a white-washing.

The visitors jumped on Zinn in the first inning for seven runs, the first two players to bat reached first on errors, Zinn walked the next man filling the bases, and the next five New Castle men singled in succession, sending over the tallies that later gave them the verdict.

New Castle scored again in the seventh and ninth frames on bunched hits and errors. The Butler team had eight misplays, that marred the game to a great extent. New Castle had but one error.

Palace, McCoy and General feature the game with two-base hits. Feigert, the New Castle twirler, had two hits off Zinn, and led the visitors at bat. Shoemaker and Palace were the best hitters for Butler.

The game was played in a drizzle of rain, and the field was not fit for play, but with one postponed game already staring them in the face, the locals decided to go through with the contest.

AMATEUR NOTES

The Hoodoo Nine and Wad's Tires team were deadlocked at 4-4 on Saturday afternoon, when rain stopped the contest in the seventh inning. The game was a pitchers battle between Schantz and McKay, with honors going to the former, who allowed but one hit, and fanned sixteen men.

The Polish Athletics defeated New Brighton 3 to 0, in a game played at Glassers Field, on Saturday afternoon. The Polish boys won the game by bunching hits off Burke in the first, fifth and sixth innings.

The West Pittsburg Blues defeated the Hot Dogs of New Castle, by a score of 9 to 2, in a game played Saturday afternoon, at the West Pittsburg Field. Passalinqua on the knoll for the Blue allowed the Hot Dogs but five hits and fanned ten men. The Blues found Cynkar, Houk and Lassa for eight hits.

The Diamond Challenge Sculls, a race for amateur single scullers, has been a feature of the Royal Henley Regatta since 1844.

Looking Back

By NORMAN E. BROWN

Ten years ago—May 2, 1917, to be exact—Fred Toney of the Cincl Reds and Jim Vaughn of the Cubs engaged in what turned out to be one of the most unusual pitching duels on record.

Toney pitched 10 innings without allowing a hit or run. Vaughn pitched nine innings without permitting either. The Reds won, 1 to 0.

It is the only time on record in either major league two pitchers have staged such an exhibition.

Church League Games Tonight

Two good games are billed in the New Castle Church League for tonight. The games will start at 6:30 o'clock daylight savings time.

The First Christians will tangle with the Epworth M. E. boys at Colonial Field, and the Croton M. E. team will play the First Baptist outfit at Lehigh Field.

Waner Continues Hitting Streak

(International News Service)

CHICAGO, June 20.—Paul Waner, Pirate outfielder, today had hit in twenty-two consecutive games. He hit three times safely out of five trips to the plate against the Cubs yesterday.

When Yale and Harvard contest in their annual boat races at New London on June 25 it will be just seventy-five years since the Blue and the Crimson rowed their first dual race. It was in 1852 when the two university crews, such as they were, rowed on Lake Winnepesaukee, N. H., Harvard winning. That was the first intercollegiate regatta held in the United States. It was a two-mile course. Three years later, over a three-mile route at Springfield, Harvard again was the winner.

Chicago Cubs Trim Pirates

Cubs Get To Hill And He Is Removed From Box In Sixth

EARL SMITH HAS BEEN SUSPENDED

CHICAGO, June 20.—Carmen Hill pitched good ball yesterday until the sixth, when the Chicago Cubs let loose with their willows and Carmen was removed from the mound. Chicago won, 14 to 7.

The Cubs got two runs in the first and the Pirates scored three in the third, but the blow-off came in the sixth when hits helped Chicago put six more runs across, which was five to the good.

Yde took Hills' place and lasted for little more than an inning, and Cvengros was given the assignment. In the last of the eighth the Cubs found Cvengros and scored six more runs.

Donie Bush's swatters rallied in the first of the ninth and scored four runs, but Root, who pitched for the Cubs, knew he could let down a bit, but he didn't let the Pirates get too many hits.

Earl Smith, who knocked out Dave Bancroft Saturday at Pittsburgh, was not in the game and has been suspended indefinitely by President Heydler.

Teddy Baldock, the new world's bantamweight champion, who is coming to America next month, is a tall, thin lad who has just passed his twentieth birthday. Since his victory over Archie Bell, the American bantam, the English sports writers have waved enthusiastic over Baldock's prowess in the ring. This is but natural in view of the fact that Teddy is the first Britisher to hold a world's pugilistic title in a long, long time.

Energy Topples Indie-Ayes, 7-3

Game Played Under Protest By Indies After Seventh Inning Saturday

Energy defeated the Independents, 7 to 3, in a drizzle of rain Saturday afternoon at the Scotland Lane field. The Indies entered a protest in the seventh inning on a decision by Umpire Hudson.

Turco and Duncan were the opposing moundsmen with honors going to the latter. It was a hard hit ball by Turco in the seventh inning that caused the protest. The ball, it is alleged by the Indies players, hit the third base sack and should have been called a fair ball, but Umpire Hudson ruled it was a foul.

Russell, Palus and Augostine were the heavy hitters for the Indies, with Brown and Hereford the best stickers for the Energy team. The box score:

FESS SAYS COOLIDGE WILL BE CANDIDATE AND BE RE-ELECTED

YOUNGSTOWN, June 20.—United States Senator Simon D. Fess addressing the Union League club, declared President Coolidge will positively be a candidate for a third term. He says the Republican ticket is certain to be Coolidge and Dawes, the Democratic ticket Gov. "Al" Smith of New York for president, Governor Vic Donahey, Ohio, for vice president. Fess says Coolidge will be re-elected by a large majority. Fess is considered to be closest to the President of any senator.

The principal objection to self-made people generally is that the job is rarely complete.

De Pinedo Is Willing To Attempt Non-Stop Flight Around World, He Says

By GUGLIELMO EMANUEL.
International News Service Staff Correspondent

ROME June 20.—If aviation engineers can design an airplane capable of remaining in the air long enough, Commander Francesco De Pinedo is willing to attempt to fly the plane around the world in a non-sop flight he told the International News Service in an exclusive interview.

"You have been reported as desiring to attempt a non-stop flight around the world, are wou seriously contemplating such a flight?" the International News Service correspondent asked

"I am quite prepared for such a flight providing the builders are able to provide a seaplane capable of such a feat" said De Pinedo.

"Iam preparing a book on my flight over four continents" continued De Pinedo. "I am not only recording my navigation experiences but also my birds-eye impressions of the several peoples I visited. My book probably will contain more about he United States than other countries, since due to an accident I remain there longer than elsewhere.

"I am treasuring souvenirs of numberless courtesies I received in the United States and it is my warmest wish to return there soon."

"The United States is a great country not only geographically but morally, for the activity, the spirit and the enterprise of its people. I felt extremely at home there for their mentality was surprisingly like mine."

De Pinedo was jocular when his attention was called to the efforts of one news agency to make capital out of his flight by quoting him as stating that this agency had been most thorough in covering his flight. "Everywhere I went I found reporters waiting for me, including those of your organization" said De Pinedo.

Will Register Chicken Sales To Foil Thieves

Wisconsin Farmers Aided By New Law To Protect Poultry

MADISON, Wis., June 20. — When Governor Zimmerman signs a bill designed to protect the hen houses of Wisconsin from raids, badger state poultry will have been elevated to a plane now enjoyed by thoroughbred cattle, real estate and human beings.

The bill requires all buyers of poultry for market to register annually with the county clerk and to keep a record of all purchases, with a general description of the birds and the name of the seller. The aim is to trace the sales of stolen birds back to the thief, who is liable to severe penalty.

Similar protection is expected to be given poultry raisers in Illinois and Minnesota, who through repeated raids have suffered losses of over $2,000,000.

Rewards of $500 have been posted in one Wisconsin county, but as yet have failed to prove a deterrent to the marauders who have in some instances made away with every hen on several farms as one night's work.

Theft of a dozen chickens from a roost is only "small fry" for amateurs. Some have suffered losses of as many as 1,000 hens or turkeys in one raid.

Gangs drill a hole in the wall of the henroost, through which gas is emitted to quell the disturbed inmates.

POLICE JUDGE, WHO SENT JACK LONDON TO JAIL AS TRAMP, DIES

NIAGARA FALLS, N. Y., June 20.—Police Justice Charles Harvey Piper who attained national prominence when he sentenced the late Jack London, author, to 30 days in jail as a tramp, died yesterday. He was 67 years old and had served more than 40 years as peace justice and police magistrate.

London recounted his experiences before the Falls judge in a magazine article which was used unsuccessfully against Judge Piper in a political campaign.

Brakes Come Loose And Truck Runs Away; Other Accidents

S. H. Eckelberger, 216 East Grant street, reported to the police Saturday that he had his truck parked in front of his residence when the brakes let go and the machine started down the hill. Mr. Eckelberger sign fied his willingness to repair the damage done.

H. E. Welsh of R. D. No. 1 reported Saturday that he was driving north on Milton street and making a left-hand turn onto Court street when a truck of the Alexander Cut Rate Store going west on Court street collided with and damaged his machine.

F. M. Wells of 125 Englewood avenue reported that he was driving south on Croton avenue near "the dugout" when his machine struck an automobile bearing Pennsylvania license 750-743, which was parked two feet from the curb. Some damage was done.

R. A. Fraas of Haydon avenue, Youngstown, O., reported that he had his machine parked near the Fountain Inn when Mrs. David Shapiro of Wampum, Pa., drove her machine into his car, damaging it to some extent.

S. E. Whitstone of Warren, O., reported Saturday that he was driving his car west on East Lutton street when a car bearing Pennsylvania license 714-724, and being driven in front of his machine, made a left-hand turn without warning. Mr. Whitstone, to avoid a collision with this machine, turned to one side, running into a house. Some damage was done.

Austria Honors Chamberlin And Levine, Aviators

New York To Germany Fliers Are Honored By President Hanisch

(International News Service)

VIENNA, June 20.—For the second time since his arrival in Europe in his airplane "Columbia," aviator Clarence D. Chamberlin is today honored by the head of an European nation.

Chamberlin was invited to meet President Hanisch and Chancellor Seipel, of Austria, the former conferring the medal of the Austrian order of Merit in recognition of the great non-stop flight from New York to Eisleben, Saxony. Chamberlin was accompanied by his flying companion, Charles A. Levine. Both were invited to be honor guests at a luncheon given by the state.

Chamberlin and Levine arrived last night in rain storm, but even disagreeable weather failed to dampen the spirits of 15,000 excited and admiring Austrians who welcomed the Americans at Aspern field, just outside this city.

So demonstrative did the crowd become that the police lost all control. The Austrians surged around the Americans cheering and waving hats while a band played "The Star Spangled Banner."

Mrs. Chamberlin and Mrs. Levine flew in another machine.

When word was received from Berlin: "They're off," a crowd of 50,000 gathered at the flying field, but all except about 15,000 departed when rain began to fall. The Americans received a continuous ovation all the way from the air depot to the Hotel Imperial. Before leaving the field both airmen were presented with diamond studded medals by the Aero Club of Austria.

Chamberlin and Levine expect to visit Prague, Budapest, Warsaw, Paris and possibly Rome before they complete their "swing round the circle." It has been decided not to fly to Moscow.

Austin, director-in-chief of the exposition. Austin added with his report that with receipts from salvage on buildings and equipments of the exposition the deficit would be wiped out.

SPORTS DONE BROWN

By NORMAN E. BROWN

The New York Giants, with the batting strength to fight it out with the Pirates, Cubs and Cards for the National League bunting, find themselves handicapped by poor fielding as well as uncertain pitching.

No one expected McGraw to have consistent pitching this year. He hasn't had for several moons. But Giant fans are having a hard time finding the reason for the punk fielding.

McGraw has announced frankly and has seemed justified in his statement that his present infield is one of the greatest he has ever had—Terry, Hornsby, Jackson and Lindstrom. When Jackson was forced out of the game young Eddie Farrell proceeded to fill his shoes admirably. And yet the club as a team is ambling along sixth in fielding.

Last year the Giants ranked third in that department. The Cubs and Reds topped them, but the three clubs ranked within four points of each other—all far ahead of the other clubs. Now only the slipping Braves and the wandering Dodgers accept the doubtful honor of having worse fielding clubs.

Jawn McGraw has always been known to rule his ball club with an iron hand. As he puts it himself, he pays his players to play ball and the manner of their playing is up to him.

Which probably accounts for the fact that Eddie Roush, called the greatest center fielder in the National League for eons and eons, and one of the best batters in the league over the same period, has been appearing seventh in the Giant line-up. No one between him and the pitcher but the catcher.

It is doubtful whether or not any other manager in the league would suggest to such a star that he accept that post, pending the return of his batting eye, however meager his hitting has been in the recent past.

By the same token it may be just what Roush needs. The latter had much his own way as a member of the Cinci Reds. He "got away with murder" with his annual holdout act.

Young Ted Lyons of the White Sox is every bit a pitcher. You can get Babe Ruth, the rest of the Yanks and a hundred other players in the league to testify to that without hope of remuneration.

But it isn't Lyons' good right arm alone that makes him the brilliant pitcher he is. It's because he is in the whole ball game up to his ears every minute. He is a throwback to the old type of pitcher who used his head for something besides advertising the newest straws.

An example of Lyons' work was put on display in the recent series between the Sox and Yanks. With Tony Lazzeri on third Miller Huggins thought to cross up Lyons and his teammates by ordering Shocker, Yank pitcher, to squeeze Lazzeri home.

The strategy fooled Lyons not a bit. He was "on top" of the bunt and tossed it home in plenty of time to nip Lazzeri. McCurdy, young catcher, spoiled the play, however, by dropping the ball. Like a flash Lyons retrieved it and shot it to third in time to nip Dugan, who had tried to make it from first on the play.

The average pitcher, you'll agree, would have stopped to argue with the umps or would have sulked his way back to the box without worrying about the rest of the game.

Incidentally the young collegian proved again that the Yankees are just as harmless as any other ball club before real hurling. He let them down that day with five hits.

King's Gold Plate Has Special Guard

LONDON, June 20.—Magnificent gold plate is used by Queen Mary and King George at state banquets given to rulers of other countries when they visit England.

Although these functions generally take place at Buckingham Palace, London, the precious tableware is stored at Windsor Castle, 20 miles away.

The removal of the plate to London from Windsor is no light matter. It is brought in an armored van sheathed, drawn by two or more bay horses, and with outriders for protection.

The gold plate consists of a dinner service for 100 guests, complete with tureens, meat dishes, entree dishes and covers, a fruit service, and a coffee service. Golden candelabra are used as table decorations. These are from three to four feet high and branch in all directions.

The golden service is kept in the strong room at Windsor Castle. Each article has a separate pigeon hole and each hole a separate lock.

Says Fighting Hurts Churches

READING, Pa., June 20.—Fighting among rural churches must stop if they are to make progress, according to William V. Dennis, socialogist at State college, in an address today at the Reformed church's interdenominational conference on rural churches and form life problems, now in progress at St. Lawrence. He declared that some rural congregations fight like cats and dogs."

Roman Women Also Had Corns

LONDON, June 20. — Roman women who lived in London 1800 years ago suffered from corns on their feet just as some of the society butterflies do today.

Evidence of this has been discovered in an excavation for a building near the Bank of England. The sole of a dainty Roman shoe, on which the mark of a corn at the base of the little toe can clearly be seen, was unearthed. The sole is well worn, rather thin, but as delicately shaped as any in Bond street windows today.

Little is sure in this life, except that a girl who has an important date coming may count on her nose getting red.

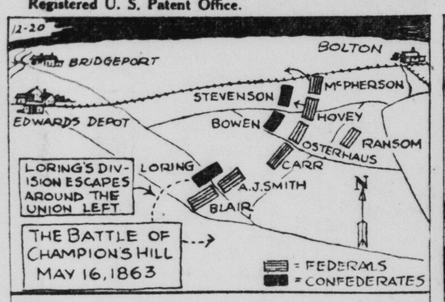
HIGH LIGHTS OF HISTORY

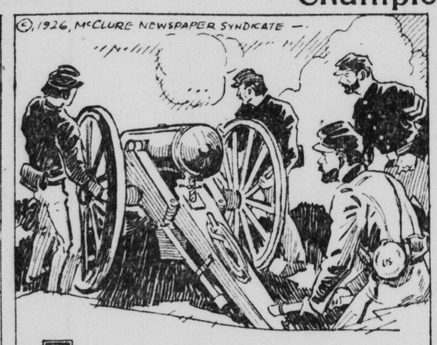
Registered U. S. Patent Office.

Champion's Hill.

by J. CARROLL MANSFIELD



ON MAY 16, 1863, PEMBERTON, AFTER REPEATED ORDERS FROM GEN. JOHNSTON, MARCHED EASTWARD FROM THE NEIGHBORHOOD OF EDWARDS DEPOT TO ATTACK A UNION FORCE AT CLINTON AND UNITE HIS ARMY WITH THAT OF HIS CHIEF. AS HE MOVED ALONG THE JACKSON ROAD HE ENCOUNTERED A DIVISION (HOVEY'S) OF GRANT'S ARMY MARCHING WESTWARD FROM BOLTON.



PEMBERTON HURRIEDLY FORMED HIS TROOPS IN LINE OF BATTLE, WHILE HOVEY SENT AN URGENT CALL TO GRANT FOR REINFORCEMENTS. FIVE FEDERAL DIVISIONS WERE MOVING TO THE WEST OVER A NUMBER OF ROADS THAT MET AT EDWARDS DEPOT, AND SOON ARRIVED AT THE SCENE OF ACTION.

A GENERAL CONFLICT BEGAN AND LASTED FOUR HOURS. THE CONFEDERATES FOUGHT BRAVELY, BUT WERE FINALLY FORCED TO RETIRE, AND PEMBERTON RETREATED ACROS BAKER'S CREEK, HAVING LOST MANY MEN AND A LARGE QUANTITY OF ARMS AND AMMUNITION.

GEN. LORING'S CONFEDERATE DIVISION, THROUGH A MISUNDERSTANDING OF ORDERS, BECAME SEPARATED FROM THE MAIN BODY EARLY IN THE FRAY. FACED BY TWO UNION DIVISIONS, LORING LED HIS TROOPS AROUND THE FEDERAL LEFT FLANK AND SUCCEEDED IN JOINING JOHNSTON'S ARMY AT JACKSON, BUT LOST MOST OF HIS ARTILLERY AND WAGONS.

N. Y. STOCKS

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, June 20.—Speculative interest was centered mainly in the "merger" railroad stocks at the beginning of trading on the stock market today. Reports that official approval would be given today of the so-called Southwest unification plan stimulated active trading in Kansas City Southern, Katy and St. Louis Southwestern common at slight advances over Saturday's close. Nickel Plate also rose about 4 points in a firm market.

Some apprehension was felt over the money situation, in view of the reported deficit in the reserves of the New York City banks, as disclosed in Saturday's Clearing House statement. Call money renewed at 4 per cent.

The industrial stocks were freely offered in the second hour, and the general tone of the market dull and reactionary. A few of the specialties with pool support were pushed upward a point or more in a meaningless whirl, while prime industrials like Steel Common and General Motors moved downward.

Insured Boy's Death Brings Murder Charge Against Young Couple

Top., Arthur Walser and his child-wife, Dorothea; center, the Walser home at Fairmount, Ind.; below reproduction of Clifford Cox's $445 insurance policy.

Exclusive Central Press Dispatch to New Castle News.

MARION, Ind., June 20—Indiana has its own sequel to the Snyder murder case in New York in which a couple murdered a husband to obtain his insurance.

Arthur Walser 29 and his wife Dorothea, 16 of Fairmount have been indicted charged with murdering Mrs. Wasler's 12-year-old cousin Clifford Cox so that they might obtain $445 life insurance carried by the boy. Mrs. Walser had insured Clifford a few weeks previously.

The trial is scheduled for September.

The child-wife, mother of a two-months-old daughter is alleged at the instigation of her husband, to have mixed the paris green "lemonade" which killed Clifford, the cousin. He drank it after rushing in to show Mrs. Walser the "marks" on his grade card.

The Walser baby needed clothes and the father had only three dollars so he directed his child-wife how to prepare the fatal drink and entice the boy into taking it the prosecution charges.

Clifford's last words on his promotion day were: "Gee that is funny lemonade. I wish I hadn't drank that stuff."

The boy stumbled into the home of his grandfather Hiram Cox nearby—and died. The grandfather now is endeavoring to clear "his little girl." The Walsers pleaded not guilty when arraigned.

The cooing Walser baby is the pet of the Grant county jail in Marion.

The project is sponsored by the Women's Medical association and by women physicians and nurses as well as interested lay women.

It is planned to staff the hospital with women physicians as well as men and there will also be some women internes. In order to provide the very best attendance for people of moderate means, a heavy endowment is solicited, a nationwide campaign having been launched appealing to a million women to contribute $5 apiece for this purpose.

Stranded Pigeon Lands At Hillsville

Considerable interest was manifested this morning by residents of Hillsville in a homing pigeon found in the garage of Dilullo Brothers at that place.

In order that the ownership of the pigeon may be determined, the numbers found on bands about the limbs of the pigeon are given. On the aluminum band on one leg was the following "A. J. 25-Star-115" while a rubber band on the other leg had the number 549 on one side and the number 205K on the other side. It is believed that the pigeon was probably in some long distance race and became lost and stopped at the garage.

Prolonged Drunk Ends In Suicide Of Oil City Man

(International News Service)

OIL CITY, Pa., June 20.—The suicide of Raymond Oaks, 37, of Walnut Bend, near here, was reported today to Coroner J. W. Osenider, who said Oakes placed a revolver against his forehead and discharged it as a climax to several days of drinking.

The coroner reported that Oaks had drunk 56 bottles of home brew, a pint of grain alcohol and four containers of canned heat. Oaks became so crazed with intoxicants by Sunday morning that he drove his wife and children from home at point of a shotgun, it was said.

Last night he called a neighbor, Wyllis Atkinson, and as he entered locked the door. "Here I go," Oaks exclaimed, and placing the muzzle of the revolver directly between his eyes discharged the weapon. His head was shattered by a .45 calibre bullet.

Observations At State Capital

Salaried Jobs Soon To Be Parceled Out By Administration Draw Interest

SLOW WORK SEEN COLLECTING TAX

By WILLIAM B. BROWN
International News Service Staff Correspondent

HARRISBURG, June 20.—Now that the majority of the non-salaried State jobs are safely parceled out, attention is swinging to those to which a good sized pay check is attached. Observers at the Capitol, however, have had occasion to remark at the fact that few such jobs are now in evidence. While there have always been openings for the political faithful, the greater number will have to be replacements, it is felt.

The formation in Philadelphia of an organization to promote safety and sanctity of the ballot renewed interest in the naming of the still pending election law commission which the legislature, at the instance of W. L. Mellon, Republican State Chairman authorized. The personnel of the commission when finally announced will be taken as a pretty good index of just how much it will accomplish.

Although some millions of words were printed during the past session of the legislature about how the State was going to collect delinquent gasoline taxes, so far the wheels have been grinding rather slowly. Two cases are pending in Dauphin county courts, one dating back to 1923.

Bids for the beginning of work on the North office building of the State Capitol are to be opened here July 21. The legislature authorized $1,000,000, while estimates of the entire cost run in the neighborhood of five to six millions. Benson Taylor, secretary of property and supplies, estimates that if the entire building is built at one time, millions could be saved.

Estate Of Soldier Decides Insurance

Supreme Court Of Ohio Clears Point In Litigation

ST. CLAIRSVILLE, O., June 20.—Distribution of war risk insurance throughout the United States gave promise today of being affected by the decision of the Ohio supreme court in the case growing out of the death in action of Basil Palmer, Bellaire, in France, July 18, 1918, serving with Company D, Thirty-ninth Infantry. His war risk insurance provided that the $10,000 principal go to his brother, William Ross Palmer, at the rate of $57.50 monthly. The latter died October 11, 1924, and the remainder, $7,570, was turned over to Attorney Mitchell, administrator of the William Ross Palmer estate.

The decision was given in the case filed by Mitchell was asked that Belmont county courts direct distribution of the money. By supreme court order, the distribution will be made on the basis of the war victim's estate. Under Ohio law, property goes to brothers or sisters, and the estate descended to William Ross Palmer, and his widow, Mrs. Stella Palmer, now is entitled to the money.

If the decision stands, heirs of soldiers at the time they met death will receive the government insurance, regardless of future developments.

WHY DO YOU OVERLOOK CATARRH?

People who are not well are very likely to have catarrh as the real cause. Sometimes the only apparent symptom is a congestion in the nose and throat, but in these cases, if the sufferer could only see the real difficulty, the disease has extended to the stomach and bowels. There it is shown by constipation, torpid liver and often kidney trouble.

Real Cause Of Sickness

Why shouldn't it be? Practically every fluid that aids in digestion or excretion must pass through mucous membrane. How can these fluids be right when they must go through the stagnant inflammation we call catarrh?

But usually we treat the other symptoms. We use violent cathartics, we whip the liver and we take so-called aids to digestion. Sometimes they help a little, but it always comes back to this—we must clear up the catarrh before we can be well.

That is just why World's Tonic is so valuable. This wonderful remedy not only tones up the whole body, enriches the blood and steadies the nerves, but it also gets at the cause—the catarrh that is poisoning the whole body. When that is gone, the body itself will take care of the symptoms. Get rid of the cause. Take World's Tonic. You will know you are on the right course when you take the first bottle.
